MINIMUM WAGE UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Rep. Zioncheck Arrested On Lunacy Warrant

STATE LAWS DOOMED BY HIGH COURT

'PLAYBOY' IS EXAMINED IN INSANE WARD

Legislator Upsets Capital in Hectic Search for Missing Wife

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(UP)—Police today arrested a struggling congressman, Marion A. Zioncheck, D., Wash., at Naval Medical Center on a lunacy warrant and took him to Gallinger Municipal hospital for mental observation.

The warrant, which was signed by Al P. Stump, the sanitary officer of the police department, charged the playboy legislator with driving "his auto in a reckless manner" and annoying citizens and public officials.

"Annoy" was hardly the word, police reported after an all-morning tussle with the representative and reports of his arrest from numerous ends of town after he had called at the White House with some empty beer bottles and later had sought the arrest of Vice President John N. Garner.

Just a Will-o'-Wisp

One group of police said they had nabbed Zioncheck in the fashionable district near his apartment. Simultaneously a downtown traffic officer reported Zioncheck had nearly run over him in his freshly dented roadster.

Hardly had these flashes cleared on the police teletype system, before another report came in, saying he was at Naval Medical Center, for reasons known only to himself.

Officers Joseph Sinkovitz and Aubrey Tolson were dispatched post-haste to the naval hospital, where they captured their sweat-soaked quarry, who still was looking for his missing wife, and who still was announcing that he intended to get himself sworn in as a deputy G-man.

"We got Zioncheck!" he shouted.

Easy to Recognize

Headquarters wouldn't believe him, but Sinkovitz insisted there had been no mistake. A Zioncheck who's been drinking Zoncheck zippers (rye and honey) all morning, isn't hard to recognize, he said.

The chief said okay, take him to Gallinger hospital for observation. The officers did just that, with a minimum of scuffling. The rest of the police department wiped its collective brow. The chief, Ernest Brown, said he had ordered arrest of Zioncheck because congressman or no congressman, he was "a wild man."

Gallinger hospital attaches said Zioncheck was being "examined" in a room in the insane ward of the building, the sections reserved for persons likely to become violent. The examination was conducted behind closed doors, and attaches declined to describe the procedure.

Police said they understood Zioncheck went voluntarily to the naval medical center.

When arrested and taken to Gallinger, the congressman's pockets contained a billiard ball.

"This man apparently is wild," the police chief said, in what observers regarded as a triumph in understatement. "There was only one thing left for me to do and that was to arrest him."

Zioncheck wanted Mr. Roosevelt to call out the army with machine guns to bombard the hotel where he believed the beautiful Mrs. Zioncheck was hiding. When Mr. Roosevelt didn't show up to receive him, the congressman sought an indictment.

WEATHER'S FINE While the major part of the country grumbles about heat, pretty Delores Enebo finds keeping cool a minor problem. Miss Enebo is princess of the National Summer Ski Tournament, to be held at the timberline on Mt. Hood, Ore., near Portland, June 14.

BRITISH PRIDE GETS WELCOME FROM GOTHAM

S. S. Queen Mary Greeted by New York at End of Maiden Voyage

NEW YORK, June 1.—(UP)—The 80,000-ton new British liner Queen Mary docked at a Hudson river pier late today after a triumphal crossing of the Atlantic and a gala welcome by hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers.

BY LOUIS E. KEEMLE

A BOARD S. S. QUEEN MARY AT THE END OF THE VOYAGE. June 1.—(UP)—Just short of a record for North Atlantic speed, Great Britain's proudest ship steamed majestically into New York harbor to find it a bedlam of welcome today.

The Queen Mary, officials aboard announced officially, arrived off Ambrose lightship at 9:05 a. m. New York time, unofficially only 44 minutes under the record for North Atlantic passenger travel from the Cherbourg breakwater.

The welcome to port near the end of the Queen Mary's maiden voyage began when airplanes soared out to sea to dip in salute as the ship passed Fire Island lightship at 7:40 a. m. EDT. Ambrose lightship, where west-bound records for North Atlantic records end, was sighted from the decks at 8:50 a. m. New York time and passed at 9:05 a. m. EDT.

Planes Swoop Low

Passengers crowding the decks and watching airplanes swooping low were expecting a dramatic last minute spurt for the blue ribbon of speed supremacy held by the French liner Normandie. But they were disappointed when a few miles off Ambrose, Commodore Sir Edgar Britten ordered the ship's engines slowed to half speed.

Long Beach was enticingly within plain view. Had she gone into the spurt she might have tied or even beaten the Normandie's record, which now must stand until the Queen Mary makes another westward voyage.

New York police estimated that between 10,000 and 12,000 watched the Queen Mary from hills near Fort Hamilton at the entrance to the harbor.

Gosh, Maybe It Was Zioncheck!

NEW YORK, June 1.—(UP)—Brooklyn police were busily engaged today in searching for... well, just searching. Someone telephoned and said he saw "something" trapped in a subway cut near the zoo. Others telephoned the same vague information.

There was nothing in the cut when police arrived but they baited a trap of meat and vegetables—and hope—and set it out.

NORTH CHINA IN GRIP OF TOKIO ARMY

Chinese Troops Join Student Demand to Resist Military Force

PEIPING, China, June 1.—(UP)—Chinese troops joined today with striking students in demanding that China fight Japanese military forces which now are holding virtually all North China.

The Chinese defiance, coming at the height of the gravest Sino-Japanese crisis since 1933, was expected to precipitate a showdown which might result in war and overthrow Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nanking government.

A showdown was hastened when the officers of the 25th army, veterans of the units under Gen. Sung Chih-Yuan which were mowed down in 1933 when Chinese fought in vain to keep the Chinese from penetrating the Great Wall passes from Manchukuo, joined their men in demanding that the Japanese evacuate their North China positions.

Students, despite Japanese warnings that their demonstrations would precipitate a crisis, staged anti-Japanese manifestations.

Large student delegations planned to proceed tomorrow to the Peiyang and Nanyuan barracks, north and south of Peiping, respectively, to urge the troops to make immediate preparations to fight.

The gravity of the situation deepened when 10,000 students in seven universities and six middle schools went on strike to protest the "Japanese military occupation of North China."

The strike reached such serious proportions that the faculty of two educational institutions dismissed their classes for three days, effective today.

"We are as patriotic as you

Rep. Marion Zioncheck, Washington congressman, met his official Waterloo in the nation's capital today when police arrested him on a lunacy warrant and hurried him off to a hospital for mental observation.

The arrest came after he had turned the capital topsy-turvy during a day of fantastic developments in which he was hunting his pretty young wife, who walked out on him in a huff Saturday night. In the top photo here, Zioncheck and the missus are shown on a bicycle built for one, in lighter moment of their honeymoon in which they took Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and New York by storm. At the right we see the newlyweds playing hotel peek-a-bo on one of their pre-dawn frolics—just a couple of kiddies who refused to believe in the myth about the "Sand Man."

Supreme Tribunal Rules Out N. Y. Measure for Women, Children

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—(UP)—Edward L. Nolan, state labor commissioner, said today he doubted California's minimum wage law would fare any better before the United States supreme court than the New York minimum wage law, which the high court held was unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(UP)—The supreme court today in a sweeping decision which will probably doom any kind of state or federal wage and hour legislation today held unconstitutional the New York minimum wage law for women and children.

The court's verdict was rendered in a 5 to 4 decision.

The ruling, while applied only to the New York law, was expected to mean the end of similar legislation in many states including seven which had joined with New York in appeal to sustain the validity of the law.

After its decision in the New York case and disposition of a huge sheaf of orders, the court recessed until Oct. 5, bringing to an end one of the most momentous terms in its history.

The conservative victory was made possible by the adherence of Justice Owen J. Roberts who cast his vote with the four members of the conservative bloc who voted against a similar law in 1933.

Hughes Dissents Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes wrote a vigorous dissent which was concurred in by Justices Louis D. Brandeis, Harlan F. Stone and Benjamin Cardozo.

2 MORE WIVES DROPPED FROM COUNTY POSTS

ANNOUNCING the dismissal of two more married women employees of his office, County Recorder J. Fred Sidebottom today made known plans to release all married women employees whose husbands have jobs sufficient for their support.

At the same time, Sidebottom, who recently was appointed to serve the unexpired term of Miss Justine Whitney, announced other change in office policy that will place the purchasing of his record books on the basis of open bidding, and give local bidders a chance to compete with the San Francisco firm that has heretofore handled this business.

Release of Mrs. Dorothy Lutz Kolkhurst and Mrs. Ada Robinson from the recorder's office, and employment of Gladys Kilkenny, of Santa Ana, and Carolyn Fordling, of Garden Grove, in their place, took place Saturday, Sidebottom stated. He had previously released two other married women from his staff.

"I have come to the decision," he said, "that all married women employed in my office, whose husbands have jobs which, in my opinion, are sufficient for the family support, shall be released."

Sidebottom today placed with the county purchasing agent a requisition for record books for his office, to be purchased on bids, instead of from the San Francisco firm without bids.

Up to January 1, 1935, the San Francisco firm had sold these supplies directly to the county recorder's office without a local agency. At that time a change was inaugurated, so that the books were supplied by the same firm, through either a Santa Ana book dealer, or weekly newspapers of the county.

By open bidding on the books, however, Sidebottom believes he can make a material saving. Investigation has indicated such a possibility, he said.

Bids will be received on four types of books, the McMillan, Wilson-Jones, Hall - McChesney and Durabilt.

WARRING NICARAGUA GROUPS ARBITRATE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 1.—(UP)—Government and rebel National Guard forces substituted diplomacy for rifle and machine gun fire today, and sought by negotiation to settle a dispute regarding presidential election.

After a day of fighting which terrorized the city but caused few casualties, President Juan B. Saca, with loyal troops in his palace on La Loma Hill, and Gen. Anastasio Somoza, commanding the besieging National Guard forces agreed last night to suspend hostilities.

They promised not to resume fighting or move their forces until by negotiations they could seek agreement on the elections.

TOWNSEND-SMITH JOIN IN CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, June 1.—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the Old-Age Revolving Pension Plan, and the Rev. Gerald K. Smith, Share-the-Wealth chief, announced today they have joined forces in a movement to "get rid of Roosevelt."

Dr. Townsend, who made the joint announcement with Smith at the Hotel Roosevelt, added that followers of the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin will also participate in the anti-Roosevelt drive although, he said, the priest has not committed himself.

BARBER RECEIVES SENTENCE LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(UP)—Robert S. James, amorous barber awaiting trial for the "rat snake" slaying of his wife, was sentenced today to 1 to 150 years in prison for three morals offenses involving his pretty 31-year-old niece, Lois Wright.

HOLIDAY TOLL OF DEATHS IN NATION IS 113

(By United Press)

THE ANNUAL surge of America's millions to the highways and country-side for the first big holiday of the year left at least 113 mangled accident victims in morgues and undertaking parlors, a United Press survey indicated today.

Twenty-five of the most densely populated states reported 95 violent deaths for Memorial Day weekend. The National Safety Council predicted "final death toll of slightly over 100."

Automobile accidents caused the most deaths, as usual.

A pre-holiday campaign by the Safety Council was credited with reducing the toll below the average. The council had anticipated 133 deaths on the basis of former years.

Newspapers and civic organizations campaigned strenuously during the last 12 months for highway safety. The Safety Council sent out a last-minute warning against speeding and careless driving.

COMB HOBO JUNGLES FOR MISSING HEIR

NEW YORK, June 1.—(UP)—A search for William Webster Thiele, 15, descendant of Daniel Webster and prospective heir to millions, spread to third rate hotels and hobo jungles across the country today. He disappeared mysteriously 23 days ago.

His father, head of two Wall Street corporations, disclosed that a nation-wide search by private detectives produced not a single clue. The boy's mother, the former Ima Green Webster of Siloam Springs, Ark., was under a physician's care.

Thiele said he did not believe William was kidnapped, but feared that in visits to cheap burlesque houses and dance halls he might have picked up associates who would attempt to turn his connections to advantage. Police learned that the boy visited a 10-cent dance hall in Harlem.

RETURN OIL MAN TO FACE CHARGES

SHANGHAI, June 1.—(UP)—Si Rubins, former president of the Great American Petroleum Co., wanted by California authorities on charges of grand theft and fraud, will sail from here June 6, on the S. S. President Taft in custody of the captain of the liner.

Rubins was taken off the S. S. Golden Hind, on which he was a passenger and placed in jail pending disposition of his case.

There are 14 charges of grand theft against him in Stockton, Cal., also charges of violating the state corporate securities act and conspiracy to commit both offenses.

He was convicted with two other officials last summer, in connection with the promotion of an oil well at Clay Station, near Galt, Cal.

COMMITTEE DELAYS TAX BILL REPORT

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(UP)—The senate finance committee today delayed its final report on the new tax bill but announced the measure would be ready for presentation tomorrow when debate is expected to start.

The committee had intended to present its formal report today.

However, last minute delay in clearing up final details of the controversial bill forced the committee to delay the report until a few hours before the scheduled start of debate tomorrow.

The committee took no action on the minor details today. A subcommittee was named to consider inclusion in the bill of the O'Mahoney-Jones amendment which would validate 1936 and 1937 AAA sugar quotas.

TWO H. S. STUDENTS KILLED IN CRASH

FOLSOM, Cal., June 1.—(UP)—Two Folsom High school students were killed and a third person died as the result of an accident near here today when a Southern Pacific motor train crashed into an automobile at the Alder creek crossing.

The dead included Torrence Yost, 17-year-old school girl, driver of the automobile, and Everett Chambers, 17. The girl died before she could be taken to Sacramento hospital and the boy died a few minutes later.

The death of Mrs. Nann Biggs, 80-year-old grandmother of Miss Yost, was attributed indirectly to the accident. She suffered a fatal stroke when she was informed of the girl's death.

DR. FRANK TOUTON PASSES

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 1.—(UP)—Dr. Frank C. Touton, 55, vice president of the University of Southern California, died at his home here today of apoplexy.

Dr. Touton yesterday took part in baccalaureate exercises for 1936 U. S. C. students. He complained of feeling ill during the ceremony and went home.

YOUTHS RESCUE FOUR MEN AS WAVES TOSS BOAT NEAR REEF

TWO heroic youths who rowed through heavy seas in a dory and, by main strength, held a 15-foot power boat off the reefs at Crystal Cove, Saturday, saved the lives of four men who dared the ocean in a boat without anchor or life preservers.

The small boat became disabled at 3 p. m. and was tossed about by the heavy sea for more than two hours while Silas Newell, the owner, attempted to repair the damage. Every wave hurled the boat and its four frightened occupants nearer the reefs and certain death. The back wash carried the tiny craft to sea again. But each wave hurled the boat a little nearer to the rocks.

Shortly after 5 p. m. the plight of the men was noticed on shore and two young men battled their way through the sea in a dory.

When they reached the stricken boat they fastened a line and, pulling against the waves, which were increasing in violence, held the boat off the rocks until a Smith Brothers' tug could arrive from Newport Harbor. The tug was summoned by the Laguna Beach police.

When the tug arrived the youths, almost exhausted, tossed the line to Capt. Reg White and

FELIX, MOTOR MAN, DIES IN POLO GAME

SANTA MONICA, June 1.—(UP)—Winslow B. Felix, 42, prominent Southern California sportsman and automobile dealer, died at Santa Monica hospital today from injuries suffered when he was hurled by his mount during a polo game.

Physicians diagnosed his injury as a basal skull fracture and hemorrhage of the brain. An emergency operation was performed to relieve pressure upon the brain but Felix failed to regain consciousness and died at 1:45 a. m.

Felix formerly was president of the Southern California Motor Car dealers.

LOEB'S SLAYER ON Trial for Murder

JOLIET, Ill., June 1.—(UP)—James Day, youthful slayer of Richard Loeb, went on trial today pleading that he was trying to defend himself when he slashed Loeb's body in a prison bathroom.

Basis of Day's defense will be his confession in which he accused Loeb, co-slayer of Chicago's Bobby Franks 12 years ago, of trying to force him into an abnormal act. The state, expected to demand the death penalty, will contend that Day exceeded the limits of self-defense.

WRITER OVERCOMES Sleeping Potion

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—(UP)—Physicians today reported that the condition of Elsie Robinson, noted syndicate writer who took an overdose of sleeping potion by mistake, was "not serious."

Her husband, Benton Fremont, said she reached a telephone and called for help before she lapsed into unconsciousness. She was given emergency treatment.

HALLAHAN SOLD TO CINCY ST. LOUIS, June 1.—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals today sold pitcher Bill Hallahan to the Cincinnati Reds for an unannounced sum in a straight player deal. At the same time the Red Birds announced purchase of Bill Cox, a right-hander, from Columbus of the American association and pitcher Leslie Munns, from Rochester in the International league.

LATE FLASHES

F. D. R. KIN ENDS LIFE BUENOS AIRES, June 1.—(UP)—Robert B. Delano, youthful distant relative of President Roosevelt, shot and killed himself last night at Estancia, near Baranqueras in the Argentine Chaco where he was employed by the Clayton-Anderson Cotton company.

that there was a substantial difference between the 1923 District of Columbia case and the New York law.

"And I can find nothing in the federal constitution which denies to the state the power to protect women from being exploited by over-reaching employers through the refusal of a fair wage as defined in the New York statute and ascertained in a reasonable manner by competent authority," Hughes said.

The majority ruling written by Justice Pierce Butler was based squarely upon the court's ruling in the District of Columbia case. Butler said the court majority found the principles of the District of Columbia case "sound."

Liberals Join Hughes

While joining in the Hughes opinion, the three liberals joined also in a separate opinion by Justice Harlan F. Stone. Stone's opinion said the liberals would not distinguish between the District of Columbia law and the New York law as the sole basis of decision.

"I attach little importance to the fact that the earlier statute was aimed only at a starvation wage and that the present one does not prohibit such wage unless it is also less than the reasonable value of the service," Stone said.

"Since neither statute compels employment at any wage, I do not assume that employers in one case, more than in the other, would pay the minimum wage if the service were worth less."

"The vague and general pronouncement of the 14th amendment against deprivation of liberty without due process of law is a limitation of legislative power, and not a formula for its exercise."

"It does not purport to say in what particular method that power shall be exerted. It makes no fine spun distinctions between methods which the legislature may and which it may not choose to solve a pressing problem of government."

The majority opinion found there were two questions involved in the case.

These were stated as:

1. Whether the state may impose minimum wage rates for all competent experienced women workers whom they may have in their service.

2. Whether the state has power similarly to subject to state-made wages all adult women employed in trade industry or business other than house or farm work.

It held that these were the questions decided in the 1923 case and which were found to be a restraint on the liberty of the individual under the fourteenth amendment.

The court in effect went somewhat further than it did in the 1923 case. It ruled that even though the New York law took into account the value of service rendered by women workers as well as the cost of living it was just as unconstitutional as the District of Columbia law which sought only to eliminate starvation wages.

DECLARES DECISION WILL NOT AFFECT CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(UP)—Mrs. Mabel Kinney, director of the State Industrial Relations department, declared the supreme court's voiding of the New York minimum wage law would not affect California's statute.

She explained that the California law has been in effect more than 22 years without challenge of its legality, and added:

"The California law differs from other states in that it not only has been in effect so long, but also that it was not only passed by the legislature but also submitted to the direct vote of the people who approved it by an 84,000 majority. I anticipate no question of its legality will be raised."

The state's minimum wage law was passed by the legislature in

KEN Murray SAYS:

Both of the major political parties should take a tip from the Socialists, who opened their national convention Monday, and nominated Norman Thomas for president the same day. . . . Okay, Mr. Thomas! But for all practical purposes, running on the Socialist ticket is like working yourself up to a sparring partner for Joe Louis.

They say the Socialists flatly refused the offer of the Communist party to combine forces and present a "United front" next election. . . . What would you call that, the difference between a real Red and a henna rinse?

Naturally, neither party can expect much financial help from the American public. . . . Those boys spend too much of their lives in riotous living.

So remember: It isn't necessary to be an expert phenologist to tell whether a man is a good Socialist. . . . All you have to do is count the number of bumps on his head. (Copyright, 1936, McNaught Syn. Inc.)

FEARS CALIFORNIA LAW WOULD NOT STAND TEST

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—(UP)—Dr. Louis I. Bloch, statistician for the state labor commission, said today he was "very much afraid" California's minimum wage law would be held unconstitutional if brought to a test, in view of the United States supreme court's decision voiding New York's minimum wage law.

"The California minimum wage law has not been brought into court," Bloch said, "but in light of the decision on New York's law, I'm very much afraid it would be declared unconstitutional."

Dr. Bloch said 270,000 women and 30,000 children are now under the minimum wage law in California.

"For some time we have been planning a minimum wage law for men to be submitted to the next legislature," he added. "However in view of the supreme court decision, such a law probably won't be brought up."

Boy Breaks Arm Playing In Park

Robert Brigante, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brigante, 2203 Greenleaf, is recovering from a severe fracture of his left arm, having received the injury last Thursday evening while with his Boy Scout troop in Jack Fisher park. Another boy playfully pushed him from the cannon and he fell upon the cement base, breaking his arm above the elbow.

His fellow scouts took him to a physician's office where the injury was given attention. The accident took place before the scout leader had reached the park.

$20,000 Damages Sought by Youth

Oscar Field, 15, who was badly burned about the face and head when oil company workmen dropped a lighted match in an excavation on the Field's property west of Santa Ana, last July 15, and caused a gas explosion, today filed suit in superior court against the Shell Oil company for $20,000 damages.

His father, Isador Fields, former Santa Ana jeweler, joined in the suit, asking reasonable damages for past and future medical expenses for his son. Attorneys West and West, Santa Ana, represent the plaintiffs.

students," the professors said. Meanwhile Tientsin, 90 miles down the railway from Peiping, was tense.

The Japanese military took official cognizance of Chinese allegations that the Japanese are responsible for Tientsin's prime mystery—the daily appearance of bodies floating down the Hai Ho (Sea River). To date 358 bodies have been fished from the muddy stream.

A spokesman at Japanese North China headquarters, in the Japanese concession at Tientsin, demanded that the Chinese bureau of public safety reveal the truth.

"The truth is," a Japanese spokesman said, "that the Tientsin municipal opium clinic disposed of the bodies in the river rather than pay the $10 burial costs."

Students countered by distributing pamphlets asserting that the bodies were those of Chinese employed by the Japanese to erect secret fortifications.

"They were murdered when their work was done because dead men tell no tales," the students charged.

At 10:02 a. m. the Queen Mary's white superstructure and red and black funnels moved up over the horizon as the ship approached the entrance to the harbor.

Four minutes later the vessel was opposite Fort Hamilton. Three loud, long blasts sounded from the ship's whistle. Between 30 and 40 airplanes buzzed overhead.

A few yachts, motorboats, canoes and rowboats hurried back and forth offshore, their occupants waving flags, as the ship moved to its anchorage at quarantine.

STRANGE STABBINGS SEND MEXICANS TO COUNTY HOSPITAL

Two strange stabbings which resulted in medical treatment of the victims, at Orange county hospital, were reported to police over the weekend.

Frank Stall, 57, 143 1-2 North Cypress, Orange, reported three Mexicans came to his house Saturday night about 11 o'clock, inquiring for the Gonzales residence, 143 North Cypress. While Stall was rapping on the door of the Gonzales home, he said, one of the Mexicans stabbed him "for no reason I know of." Stall knocked one of the attackers down but all escaped. The knife point entered Stall's lung between the ninth and tenth ribs; he is improving today.

At the same time, Saturday night, Ysabel Rodriguez, 26, 1055 Patt street, Anaheim, was brought to county hospital, suffering from a knife wound on the left side of his chest. He was treated and sent home. He gave no explanation of the attack except to admit another Mexican was his attacker.

SIX INJURED IN TEN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

Orange county highways had no traffic fatalities over the weekend, although police and hospital records show six persons injured in 10 accidents.

A report to California highway patrol officers shows Edmond Mantini, 51, of Los Angeles, crawled from his car, unscathed, Saturday afternoon near Orangethorpe avenue and Acacia street, after it skidded approximately 150 feet, jumped a six-foot irrigation ditch 26 feet from the roadway, traveled on several yards more and then crashed against a large orange tree, wrecking both tree and car.

Friday night at Huntington Beach boulevard and First street, Edmond Rogers, 17, Route 1, Huntington Beach; Melvin Anderson, 15, Wintersburg, and Dick Turner, 17, Wintersburg, were cut and bruised as cars operated by Rogers and Zelma Croxton, 21, 216 Jackson street, Midway City, collided.

G. M. Meislinger, 24, 1800 Spurgeon street, Santa Ana, reported to Officer George Peterkin that he lost control of his car Friday evening on South Main, near Newport boulevard, when another motorist forced him off the highway.

The Meislinger car was wrecked against a post but Meislinger escaped injury.

Irene Schultz, riding on a motorcycle with R. P. Schultz, Route 1, Santa Ana, Saturday afternoon, suffered cuts and bruises about the legs, as the vehicle collided with an automobile driven by J. Lee Hewitt, 55, 411 West Santa Clara, Santa Ana, on the Lemon Heights grade.

In an unusual automobile-fire plug crash, two-year-old Dale Royer, 514 East Almond street, Orange, was hurled through the windshield, cut and bruised. Dale was riding with his mother, Mrs. Blanche Royer, according to a report to Orange police, reached to the floor of the car to retrieve some articles which had dropped from the seat and lost control, crashing against the fire plug.

Mrs. Herman Priess, 46, Los Angeles, was treated at Orange County hospital, for lacerated hands after an accident yesterday morning in which the car of her husband, $0, blew out a tire and turned over on 101 highway, three miles south of Anaheim. E. A. Noe's car was damaged Saturday afternoon here when a hit-and-run driver crashed his car into it. Noe lives at 414 Mabury street, Santa Ana.

A car driven by Dr. James Farrage, Santa Ana, physician, and a truck operated by Tony Cortez, Route 3, Orange, collided last evening at Seventeenth and Main; neither driver was injured. Louis Ernest, 942 West Chestnut, Santa Ana, said he was the victim of a hit-and-run driver, here yesterday afternoon. The car was damaged but Ernest escaped. Cars driven by Fritz Thram, Garden Grove, and Frank Giesinger, Route 2, Santa Ana, collided on West Seventeenth last night, without personal injuries.

Long Beach man

Stricken in bus

Suffering a heart attack as he rode on a Motor Transit company bus Saturday morning, near Fourth and Ross streets, Walter LaBeau, 66, of 327 Linden avenue, Long Beach, slumped forward in the seat he was occupying and died.

Detective Lieutenant Charles W. Wolford and Corporal Earl Abbe, who investigated, learned LaBeau had recently left the Los Angeles county hospital where treatment for a heart ailment was given him, and was enroute from Long Beach to Arlington to visit Moses LaBeau, a relative of that town.

According to Jim Gaddis, Box 1033, Indio, who was riding on the bus, en route to Indio, LaBeau, a short time before his death, asked weakly that a window be raised in the bus "to give me more air." Gaddis accommodated the victim and a few moments later, saw him slump forward in the seat. The body was removed to Brown and Wagner funeral chapel. No inquest will be held.

Eight speeders pay

City court fines

Eight speeders were fined when they appeared before City Judge J. G. Mitchell Friday. They were Ralph Fuller, 731 Cypress, Santa Ana, $5; Dwight Almsworth, 335 East Chapman, Orange, $8; V. L. Obarr, 505 West First, Tustin, $6, which he said he would work out; Albert Eberth, 212 North Olive street, Santa Ana, $6; Homer R. Nelson, Route 1, Huntington Beach, $6; Olin Raley, LaVerne, $8; Charles E. Vouga, Los Angeles, $8, and Ernest D. Cook, Azusa, $15. For illegal parking, $1 each was paid by Ray Spangler, Dominguez De Lopez, C. M. Haldeman and Will J. Lindsay.

ETHIOPIA CUT INTO 3 PARTS BY MUSSOLINI

ROME, June 1.—(UP)—At the behest of Premier Benito Mussolini the Italian cabinet today carved Ethiopia into three separate parts and added them to Eritrea and Italian Somaliland to form an East African Roman empire.

The cabinet, meeting for the second time in three days, ruled that the East African empire should be ruled by a viceroy seated at Addis Ababa and assisted by two consultative councils. It ordered freedom of worship for Moslems and confirmed the dependence of the Ethiopian Christian church on the coptic patriarch at Alexandria, Egypt.

Il Duce presided over the cabinet meeting which approved the draft of a law providing for "organizing the Italian empire in East Africa into five regional governments."

The viceroy of Ethiopia, at present Marshal Pietro Badoglio, will be in full charge. He will be assisted by two consultative bodies. They are:

The council of government, composed of high officials. The general council, composed of six Italians selected from among Italy's farmers, merchants and industrialists, and six prominent natives.

The five government divisions and their capitals will be: Eritrea, Asmara; Amhara, Gondar; Galla and Sidamo, Gimmra; Harar, Harar; Somali, Mogadiscio. Asmara will have a special administration under a city governor.

Landis Explains Aims of SEC

Full protection for the security holders of the nation is the aim of the government through its Securities and Exchange Commission, James M. driving. The apparent reduction this year will encourage more spirited safety campaign— the Safety Council said.

Several states reported drownings as summer weather attracted millions to beaches and lakeside resorts. Airplane crashes and drunken shootings helped swell the total.

A train-automobile collision at Youngstown, O., killed three persons.

MARRIAGE LICENSES TOTAL 317 IN MAY

The matrimonial industry continued its new 1936 prosperity during May, records of County Clerk J. M. Backs showed today, the month showing a total of 317 marriage licenses issued as compared to 302 for the corresponding month last year.

License totals have shown an increase every month during 1936, except March, which tied March, 1935, with 222 each.

ment against Vice-President Garner, whom he charged with "being in on" the campaign to keep his wife hidden.

"Garner is in on the plot against me," Zioncheck told District Attorney Leslie C. Garnett. When the latter pool-pooched with a suggestion, Zioncheck raced in his black roadster to police court where he sought a warrant against his landlady, whom he charged with stealing his gold watch.

This warrant was not forthcoming, either.

The battling congressman, wearing a fuzzy sweater and breathing an aroma of rye whiskey from a few of his celebrated Zioncheck zippers, hopped into his car, smashed into the machines in front and back, and announced that he was going to get himself a job as a deputy G-man.

"Then I'll bet I find her," Racing through red lights, caution signals and stop signs, he careened to the White House, skidded to a halt on the wrong side of West Executive avenue, ran into the executive offices for his second call upon Mr. Roosevelt. Informed that the President still was not available, Zioncheck raced away with tires screeching after announcing that he would return shortly.

WHY WE SAY "WEST COAST LUMBER"

NAME OF FIRM NO. 1 LBR ASSN

Because, at no extra cost, this official Grade Mark insures that guaranteed quality Douglas Fir Boards, Dimension and Timbers are being used. Just any grading stamp is not enough. For complete assurance the lumber going into your construction is correct, insist on "W. C. L. A. Grade Marked." Then you have the guarantee of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association that the lumber was graded by licensed experts under its direct supervision.

That's why we say — "Look for the official stamp." By specifying it in your building contract every piece of lumber delivered will bear the "W. C. L. A." insignia as pictured above. Or, when buying a new home, ask the seller: "Will you certify the structural lumber used was 'W. C. L. A.'"

"grade-marked"

It will mean freedom from future worry and costs "not a penny more."

For information as to grades required by the Federal Housing Administration, or a list of lumber dealers selling guaranteed grade-marked lumber, please write to—

The above is a reproduction of an advertisement appearing in Los Angeles daily papers:

We are in full harmony with the movement to protect lumber buyers by having lumber officially grade-marked. We are ordering Douglas Fir (Oregon Pine) Boards, Dimension and Timbers GRADE MARKED under the supervision of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association and are authorized, by said association, to use their grade mark, under their supervision and inspection on any stock that may reach us from mills not yet availing themselves of this grade-marking service.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

No one could compute the amount of natural earnestness which is required for a grief-stricken soul to stand to his task without flinching, complaining, self pity or envy of the happiness of others. Only those who have made the image of God hope to accomplish it.

What God asks of His child, He gives him power to do. He never leaves you alone; He shares in every experience.

It is foolish to minimize the difficulty of your task; but it is disloyal to Him and to your best self to question your ability to fulfill your duty to live into your high privilege.

LEE—May 31, 1936, in Santa Ana, Mrs. Jennie Lee, age 29 years. Announcement of funeral later by Brown and Wagner.

LABEAU—May 31, 1936, in Santa Ana, Mr. Walter Labeau, age 65 years. Announcement of funeral later by Brown and Wagner.

MANSTUR—May 31, 1936, Mrs. Minnie C. Mansur, of 120 East Washington avenue. Mrs. Mansur had resided in Santa Ana 54 years and was the wife of the late Fred Mansur and mother of Miss Mildred H. Mansur, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Walter H. Woods, of Diamond Springs. Funeral services will be held Wednesday, June 3 at 10 a. m., from Smith and Smith's chapel, interment Fairhaven cemetery. Rev. Perry F. Schrock officiating.

CARDON—May 30, 1936, Lucy Ann Cardon, infant daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. George Cardon. Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Winbigger Mortuary chapel.

Bertha E. Wilson, announces the opening of the beauty shop formerly operated by Leola J. Smith in room 213 Witt building, at 117 1/2 West Third street.

Wind velocity Saturday averaged 5.3 m.p.h., according to records at the Santa Ana junior college meteorological station. Temperatures ranged from 50 degrees to 68. Relative humidity was 50 per cent at 3 p. m.

Over 200 members of the Four-square Gospel church Sunday school attended a picnic Sunday at Irvine park, where games were enjoyed following a dinner served by ladies of the church. This fair was held under the direction of Reverend W. C. Parham, Reverend Alice W. Parham and Superintendent Glenn Stearns.

Franklin Davis, local immigration officer, today issued a warning against a man who is representing a civil service school. According to Davis the man is using high pressure methods to get people to enroll in the school for $55 cash advance, to prepare for examinations for the immigration service. Davis declares no examination is being held and that there are 19,000 now on the civil service registration.

TOWNSENDITES IN MEETING AT ANAHEIM PARK

Speaking Saturday night before a mass-meeting of Townsendites in the open air theater in Anaheim city park Capt. Russell R. Hand, assistant Western Regional Director of the Townsend movement linked the philosophy of his organization with that of the Epic organization in California.

He said that while the two organizations may be advocating different methods of attaining it their eventual goal is identical—the obtaining of Social Justice. He also intimated that the bulk of Epic votes in the forthcoming campaign will be cast for Townsend candidates.

Hand announced his topic as "Townsend Politics" and said that Townsend politics cannot be construed as partisan politics. "Each of the two major political parties has had a fair chance and each has signally failed to solve the nation's problems," he said. "The only adequate recovery proposal before the American people has been presented by the O.A.R.P. and neither of the major parties seems to have any solution for present day problems."

He deplored the fact that congress had sanctioned the actions of the Townsend investigation committee. He said that millions of citizens have said to their congressmen, "please do something about the Townsend Plan" but the answer that had been given was the institution of the "gag rule" which the speaker declared "is the negation of representation in government." Hand continued by saying, "The time has come in my opinion when congressmen should be told in no uncertain way that they are the employees and that we are their employers."

He charged that the present congress had surrendered their powers to the National Executive instead of functioning as intended under the constitution. The speaker said, "I charge the present administration as being a party to the opposing forces against the Townsend plan." By its failure to protect at methods used in fighting us and by the various types of legislation sought to be enacted to law it has demonstrated its antagonism to our plan. There doesn't seem to be any promise of help for us from the political convention to be held in Philadelphia." He continued with "if this congress adjourns without doing anything for us it will be just too bad for the ones antagonistic to our plan and those who have acquiesced by inaction." He declared "it isn't partisan to say we are against those who are against us."

Harry D. Riley, presided as chairman of the evening and introduced the speakers. In addition to the principal speaker several leaders in the organization spoke briefly. A musical program preceded the addresses.

Mineral Society Meets on Tuesday

Installation of officers and a lecture on Diatoms by Dr. A. L. Brigger, Santa Ana, will feature the meeting tomorrow night of the West Coast Mineral society in the Pullerton junior college. The program will be under the direction of Miss Rubyspearl Taylor, secretary of the organization.

Others who will participate in the program are H. W. Pierce, Crescent Bay Lodge, Laguna Beach, and Dr. E. H. Sandberg, Fullerton. The program tomorrow night will start with a supper served in room 22, junior college building, at 6 a. m. The lectures will be held in room 23.

Santa Ana Lodge No. 241, F. & A. M., will have ladies' night on Friday, June 5th, starting with a 50c dinner at 6:30 p. m. SHARP, followed by movies at 8 p. m. Your refreshment committee must know by NOON, THURSDAY the number who will be present for dinner. Get your tickets in ADVANCE at the temple. NO TICKETS—NO EATERS.

The officers will hold a short stated meeting immediately after dinner.

"Buck" Fipps Reports Dog Again "AWOL"

"Pal," Fireman "Buck" Fipps' six-months-old canine chum, who disappeared from his home, 1445 Orange avenue, four months ago, and was found after a diligent three-day search, is "A.W.O.L." again, the fireman reported today.

"Pal" left home last Friday. He is a Springer spaniel, tan-colored and having white feet and white markings on nose and breast. Fipps asks assistance of Santa Ana who may have seen "Pal" in having the friendly little dog brought home. Today, the Fipps are moving from 1445 Orange avenue to a new home at 1726 West Sixth; those who may know of "Pal's" whereabouts, are asked to contact the Fipps family either at the new address or at the fire department headquarters on North Sycamore. "We'll appreciate it very much," the fireman said.

LEGIONNAIRES TO GET BONUS ON JUNE 16TH

Bonus bonds, valued at approximately $2,000,000 will be delivered to Orange county veterans of the World war June 16, according to Harry Edwards, Veterans' Welfare officer for the county.

Under tentative plans the bonds will arrive in the various post offices of the county on the evening of June 15 and be distributed the following day by a large force of regular and substitute carriers. Postmaster Frank Harwood has received instructions to demand positive identification of all veterans before delivery of the bonds and the bonds can be delivered only to the person to whom they were issued.

Edwards said today that he expects to have someone at the post office here to assist in identifying the veterans, the majority of whom filed their applications through his office. The American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans may also assist in the identification.

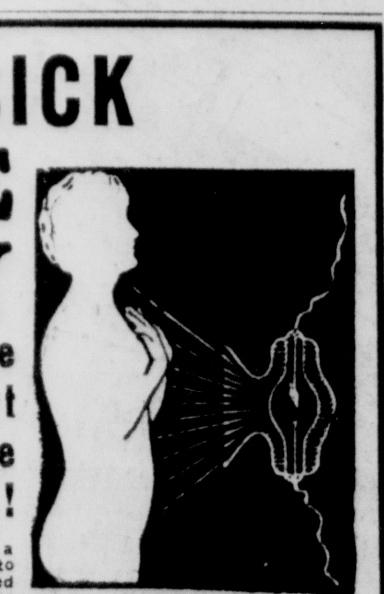

Veterans in San Diego, Pasadena, Fresno and Glendale will present their bonds for cash payment to the postmasters in those towns. In all other communities the bonds will have to be cashed through the Los Angeles post office. However, Edwards said today, tentative plans are being made for Postmaster Harwood to handle the cashing of bonds through the Los Angeles office to facilitate service to the veterans who cannot get away to make the trip to Los Angeles.

LOCAL RADIO MAN ENJOYING HAVANA

Word was received here today from L. M. Turner who, when the letter was written, was in Havana, Cuba, as a guest of the Philco Radio Corporation, of which he is a representative in Santa Ana.

Turner was one of the many Philco dealers of Southern California who left here recently on a special 15-car train for New York where he attended conferences relative to new model radios being brought out by the company, and later left New York on the Monarch of Bermuda, an electric liner, for a leisurely trip down the Atlantic coast to Havana where the party was entertained for two days by the Philco organization.

Turner said that, on the boat going to Cuba the dealers attended a complete showing of 50 new Philco models, ranging from a four-tube set that sells at $22.95 to a 20-tube set to sell at $375. This new line, according to Turner, will strengthen the leadership which Philco attained in 1935, just two years after entering the radio manufacturing field.

Nature restores permanent relief from your sickness or disease.

Any sick person who will present this ad at our office within the next 7 days will be given an X-ray Examination and Nerve Test showing the exact condition without charge or obligation.

6300 WOMEN GUESTS OF MRS. ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(UP)—The largest White House garden party ever held was the principal event today at the opening session of the first conference of the Associated Country Women of the World.

More than 6000 women from every state in the union and 22 foreign nations arrived for the largest gathering of women ever brought to Washington. Conference officials said 6300 women had made reservations for the five-day conference. Nearly all of the delegates, it was expected, would be Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's guest on the White House lawn this afternoon.

1000 AT FAIR FROM COUNTY OVER WEEK END

Cooperation of The Register, the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County and the Santa Fe Railway made possible the attendance of approximately 1000 Orange county people at the California Pacific International Exposition in San Diego over the week-end.

Special trains were operated to San Diego on Saturday, Orange County Schools Day and Sunday, Orange County day. Exposition officials greeted the delegations and expressed appreciation for the Orange county contributions to two of the largest attendance days of this season.

Those who attended the exposition as guests of The Register, were provided with round trip tickets to San Diego, street car fare to the Exposition grounds and return to the train, lunch money and tickets to one concession. The party remained for the illumination of the grounds at 7 p. m. and returned to Orange county on the special train leaving there at 9:30 p. m. The Register party was headed by

Major Bowes Not Able To Attend City's Barbecue

Major Edward Bowes, whose nationally famous amateur hour is broadcast each Sunday over a national network, will be unable to attend Santa Ana's birthday celebration, according to word received today by Mayor Fred C. Rowland. The letter was in response to a telegraphic invitation sent the Mayor May 22.

"I was very unhappy that I couldn't respond over the air to your telegram," Major Bowes' letter read, "but unless a unit is playing there, we can't do that, because other cities would want us to do the same for them, and we would have no room for our program."

"I know Santa Ana, and have been there many times in my youth—and I love it."

ORANGE COUNTY RELIEF LOAD AT LOW MARK

The lowest relief load since the establishment of the SERRA was reached last week, when a survey revealed only 666 families in Orange county were on relief at the close of the month. This figure, when compared with the all-time high of 5138 in January, 1935, is indicative of a return to private employment, according to Terence O'Halloran, director of the county SERRA.

During the final week of May 175 men were dropped from the county relief rolls. Mr. O'Halloran said. These men have found employment with orange packing houses in the county.

The monthly report for May released today, showed a total expenditure in Orange county of $34,701.54. Of that amount, $31,067.69 was spent for relief, and $3633.85 for administrative work. Expenditures for resident relief totaled $30,411, and for transient relief, $658.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SWINGS

President Roosevelt's unpublished summer plans furnish a tip-off on the Democrats' reelection strategy. He means to let the G. O. P. force the issues early in the game and then capitalize on whatever mistakes they may have made in their dog-day enthusiasm.

The President will hide out through most of June, July and August, except for brief visits to Washington to greet select delegations from the rear portico of the White House. His speeches to these visitors will appear to shun political issues but will drip with social appeal. He will fish and swim at Campobello during July, and spend most of August at Hyde Park. Both places are ideally situated for secret conferences with key politicians.

Mr. Roosevelt will return to the Senate after the Republican nominee has pitched his campaign tune in his mid-August acceptance speech. The President insists upon making several swings around the grand circuit. Detailed preparations are not being made, however, until his scouts discover where his presence will be needed most—the East, Middle West or Far West. The identity of the G. O. P. nominee and the issues he headlines will determine the Democrats' mind.

ENDS

The administration's vendetta against the Huey Long machine is slowly dying out, but everybody seems happy at the end of a perfect political feud. Although the grudges are being liquidated in accord with due process of law, cynics note that this coincides with peace-making between Washington and New Orleans.

Twelve income tax defendants have been tried. The first was convicted but Abe Saaham was acquitted by a jury. Special Prosecutors Dan Moody and Amos Woodcock quit in disgust, and District Vlasco, whose confirmation was blocked by Long, took charge. Then Federal Judge Rufus Foster stepped into the case in place of honeymooning Judge Borah. Judge Foster announced that he would NOT impose jail sentences on pleas of guilty. Eleven defendants promptly took a plea and paid $200,000 in fines and assessments into the treasury.

Several major cases involving Huey's closest friends still hang fire, but they will probably not be heard until fall. They will cause no political repercussions anywhere, and Louisiana will send a Roosevelt delegation to the Philadelphia convention. It's another case where all's well that ends well.

LESSON

The inside story of dissensions within the U. S. Chamber of Commerce over its treatment of FDR has tumbled out on the heels of Edward A. Filene's resignation from the organization.

Mr. Filene, whose niece is the wife of Liberty Leaguer J. J. Shouse, quit because he thought the chamber was "too reactionary." But only a few months ago the Automobile Manufacturers' Association shifted its allegiance to the violently anti-New Deal National Association of Manufacturers. For publication, however, it was announced that no difference over policy motivated the shift.

Now it turns out that the automobile makers' desertion was engineered by A. J. Brosseau, who heads an important automobile concern. As president-general of the D. A. R. his wife was rabidly anti-radical, and he has insisted that the chamber give no quarter to the White House. The chamber's directors undoubtedly detest the administration's attitude as thoroughly as Mr. Brosseau, but long-headed counselors have won the point that moderate criticism proves more effective in the end than indiscriminate sandbagging. That's one lesson the Liberty League's fate has taught to other anti-New Deal agencies.

COSTA MESA RANCH OWNER DIES TODAY

William G. Palmer, 62, rancher of the Costa Mesa Ranch died this morning in a local hospital after an extended illness. He had been in the hospital only four days, however, before his death. Funeral services will be announced later by the Winbigger Mortuary.

Mr. Palmer who had lived in Costa Mesa for the past 15 years, is survived by his sister, Mrs. W. D. Peterson, Hart, Mich., and a brother Philip S. Palmer, Scottville, Mich.

BOY SCOUTS TO ACT AS USHERS AT LAWN PARTY

Four hundred Boy Scouts will do ushering and coffee-pouring duty at Santa Ana's Golden Jubilee barbecue and lawn party, Wednesday night, according to Scout Executive Harrison White today.

"The entire group is asked to report to me at 5 p. m. at the Municipal Bowl, scene of the jubilee," White said. "The Scouts must be in uniform."

Plans have now been completed for the "50 years of progress" celebration, at which local service clubs will officiate. Honorary Chairman Fred C. Rowland, and Councilmen Ernest H. Layton and William Penn are the city's official representatives in arranging the program.

Tickets for the event, which includes barbecue dinner beginning at 5:30, and a funfest beginning at 7:30, to include six acts of vaudeville, are still available today, at the city hall. Two thousand tickets will be distributed to the general public, free of cost to them, and 3000 additional tickets will go to special "old timer" guests, service club members and those who take part in the affair. Judge Frank Drumm will be before the "mike" as master-of-ceremonies.

The Boy Scouts who serve at the dinner hour, will assist W. K. Duffy, who is in charge of the dinner.

The barbecue will be served up to 6:30 p. m. Red Bacon, of the arrangements committee, announced today. "The dinner will be served as early as 5:30 p. m., and thereafter, for one hour. The dinner is free to ticket holders and the program which follows is free whether you have tickets or not."

As a means of assisting the "old timers" who will attend the Golden Jubilee celebration of Santa Ana's "50 years of progress," Wednesday evening at Municipal Bowl, the Old Timers committee today issued a statement for their special benefit.

The statement is as follows: "All residents of Santa Ana who have lived here 50 years or more, or all those who lived here 50 years ago but who have since moved to other districts, whether they have received tickets to the barbecue and lawn party or not, are invited, and are asked to enter the Municipal Bowl at the southeast entrance, Sixth and Flower streets, about 5:30 p. m., Wednesday, and to take seats at the Old Timers table, where they will be taken care of."

"All others who attend the event are urged to observe the courtesies extended the Old Timers and to assist them when the occasion demands."

"James Sleeper, William C. Jerome, Terry Stephenson, Old Timers committee."

TWO DIVORCES ARE ON FILE IN COURT

Two divorce and two annulment suits were on file today in superior court. Julius A. Milbrat Jr., Orange, asked annulment of his marriage to Anna May Milbrat, which took place in Orange in 1932, on the ground that his wife was not yet divorced from a former husband.

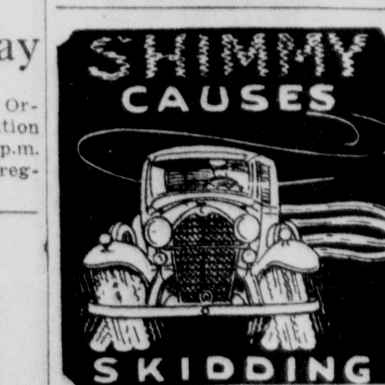

Cathleen S. McAneny asked annulment of her marriage to E. J. McAneny, and divorce complaints were filed as follows: Sylvia I. Hamilton against William A. Hamilton Jr., Laguna Beach, grounds cruelty; Beatrice B. Conroy against Edward Conroy, grounds cruelty.

HEARS OF MOTHER'S DEATH IN KENTUCKY

W. E. Friend, of the Friend-Christy Electrical company, received word today of the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Friend in Harrisburg, Ky. Mr. Friend left immediately to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Friend is well-known in Santa Ana having lived here for 15 years. Two years ago she left here to visit her daughter Mrs. Fred Martin in the Kentucky town. She became ill there and could not be returned to her home here.

In addition to her son and daughter Mrs. Friend is survived by three grandchildren: William Friend, Mary Catherine and Billy Friend, all of Santa Ana.

'Meanest Man' Returns Stolen Watch

A highly valued gold watch, the property of Arthur Murdy, Westminster dairyman, that disappeared soon after Murdy was injured in an explosion of an ammonia tank at his dairy, was found near his home yesterday. Friends of Murdy had expressed the belief that the valuable time piece had been stolen at the time of the accident.

They noticed that the watch had been taken from its customary place on the wall of one of the dairy buildings, and expressed the opinion that the "World's Meanest Man" had committed the theft. When the watch was found yesterday they felt that the "meanest man" had felt a twinge of regret and brought the watch back to its owner.

CHURCH GROUP PRESENTS PLAY IN EL MODENA

EL MODENA, June 1.—Mrs. Jess Gribble opened her lovely home on South Esplanade street to the members of the Missionary society at their recent meeting. Mrs. Faye Sorenson opened the meeting and conducted the devotional service. Mrs. W. D. Granger offered prayer.

A transportation committee was named, as follows: Mrs. Pearl Stearns, Mrs. Lois Barnett and Mrs. Ethel Bricke. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Cleona Johnson, of Orange Park Acres.

Mrs. Henry Wannamaker gave the chapter of the mission study book, "Toward a Christian America." Mrs. Wannamaker presented a playlet, "The Price of an Indian Girl."

Grace Marie Sorenson took the part of the Indian girl, Mrs. Annie Barnett, the teacher; Joyce Sloan, American girl; Fred Mahoney, Anses Joseph and Charles Johnson, Indian braves.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Gribble served tray refreshments consisting of fruit jello with whipped cream and cookies.

Present were Mrs. Henry Wannamaker, Mrs. W. C. Craft, Mrs. Faye Sorenson, Mrs. Annie Barnett, Mrs. Frances Bartley, Mrs. Lois Barnett, Mrs. Pearl Stearns, Mrs. Ethel Bricke, Mrs. Lou Roberts, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. W. D. Granger, Mrs. Norman Sloan, Grace Marie Sorenson, Joyce Sloan and the hostess, Mrs. Jess Gribble.

"ARIEL" MAKES APPEARANCE ON CAMPUS TODAY

The 1936 Santa Ana high school year book, the "Ariel," fresh from the Fine Arts Press under the supervision of Thomas E. Williams, was distributed among members of the student body today.

This year's Ariel embodies numerous features never before included in one of the annual publications. With famous personalities as its motif, the book is liberally filled with colorful illustrations done in charcoal under the direction of Art Editor Elden Klingenberg and Faculty Adviser Miss Lucinda Griffith.

For the first time in the history of Santa Ana high school year-book publications, the entire enrollment of the junior and sophomore classes is included. Among new features of the book is presented in the individual photographs of faculty members. In the past, faculty members were pictured in one group. The 168 pages of the annual, which is dedicated to Faculty Members Miss Elizabeth Wyant and W. M. Clayton, include hundreds of photographs depicting campus activities during the past year.

This morning Ariel staff members and their faculty advisers had breakfast together at the Green Cat cafe. Those who attended included the faculty advisers, Miss Griffith, Mrs. Edith Thatcher and Melton V. Newcomer; Editor Audrey Granas, Associate Editor Anne Wetherell, Assistant Editor Jimmie Tucker, Art Editor Klingenberg, the Business Manager Stanley Slaback. Others who attended the breakfast today were Staff Members Catherine Cooper, Ed Velarde, Kathleen Maddock, Jean Munro, La Vonne Franson, Caroline Davis, Virginia Prichard, Bob Wilde, Harold Tucker, Geraldine Gilbert, Roberta McKnight, Marian Jacobs, Ruth Anderson, Lois Riggs, Phil Anthony, Irene Krisher, Jane Austin, Kay Palmer, Barbara Langley, Josephine Butler, Tom Davis, Wanda Todd, Evelyn Criddle and Ellen Raitt.

A transportation committee was named, as follows: Mrs. Pearl Stearns, Mrs. Lois Barnett and Mrs. Ethel Bricke. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Cleona Johnson, of Orange Park Acres.

Bull In China Shop Is Child's Play

Deputy Sheriff Ezra Stanley and several Mexicans of the Yorba Linda district will tell you today a bull in a china shop has nothing on a bull in a corn patch.

One of the 450 Mexican-bred bulls pastured by Arthur Keene and Adolf Friend on ranches of the Yorba Linda district went on a rampage over the week-end and gave Andrew Reyes and his brother-in-law something to remember him by. When Mr. Bull refused to submit to capture after he was reported in the corn patch, Reyes and his brother-in-law sought to plead—but to no avail. The brother-in-law only escaped with his life when he literally jumped into a walnut tree, according to the officer's investigation.

Climbing atop the hood of a truck, the Mexican corn growers brought back memories of Spanish bull fighting as they bated the animal. Lassoing him with a rope, Reyes threw a heavy chain over his long horns and attached the chain to a tractor. Unwillingly, Mr. Bull went back to pasture with the other 449.

KRAEMER ARRESTED ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES TODAY

William A. Kraemer, 24-year-old member of a prominent Placentia family, was arrested this morning by Deputy Sheriffs G. F. McKelvey and James Musick, on a warrant charging Kraemer with manslaughter in connection with the death of Francisco Gomez, 16, Placentia, May 14.

Gomez was struck down by a bullet fired from a gun in the hands of Kraemer, who was given a "justifiable homicide" decision by a coroner's jury. Kraemer claimed the youth must have been the window peeper he shot at, although the youth's body was found three blocks from the scene of the shooting, outside of a window in the Kraemer home, near which Mrs. Kraemer was disrobing as she prepared to retire.

The manslaughter complaint was issued by the district attorney and bail, upon which the defendant was released, set at $2000.

Two Candidates Take Out Papers

Two more political candidates entered the 1936 campaign today as L. P. Nichols, and Thomas Kuchel, both of Anaheim, both took out nomination papers as Republican candidates for the assembly from the 75th district.

BURGLARS ARE ACTIVE IN S. A. OVER HOLIDAYS

Several thefts were reported in various parts of Orange county over the weekend. Burglars entered the Davis Grill, East Chapman avenue, Orange, last night, and, failing to find any money in the cash register, left with a brand new radio. In the same city last night, burglars entered the home of Bert Morgan, 326 East Washington avenue, stealing a 9x12 front room rug and an Iver Johnson revolver.

At the C. T. Laxton home, 1720 Bush street, Santa Ana, Friday night, thieves cut a window screen on a rear window, and two door screens before they were able to enter the place. Removing the hinges from the door, they stole $132 worth of furnishings, including three sewing rings, four small Persian rugs, end table, coffee table and watch. Some of the loot was recovered outside the house, according to Officers Charles W. Wolford and Hunter Leach.

A $200 leather belt, 50 feet long, was stolen Saturday or Sunday night by thieves who broke into the pumping plant of the Irvine ranch, a mile south of Martin's airport, according to Special Deputy Harold Kirkhart.

Two Watts Mexicans were questioned and released after Oscar Sommers, 103 Orange avenue, Santa Ana, reported to police he found a piece of hose and gasoline can beside the gasoline tank of his parked car last night. The car was parked on Birch between Second and Third streets.

G. A. R. Chief Thanks Children For Flower Offers

George D. Campbell, commander of Sedgwick Post No. 17, Grand Army of the Republic, today expressed his appreciation to the hundreds of Santa Ana school children who last week contributed flowers for Memorial Day services. The flowers which were brought to the schools were gathered Friday by members of the Women's Relief corps and Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War.

The flowers were made into bouquets by members of the two organizations and distributed at the cemetery Saturday by the Sons of Union Veterans. The Women's Relief corps of Orange and the Orange D. A. V. participated in the distribution of the flowers. The services Saturday were attended by four members of the Sedgwick post and two from the Gordon Granger Post 138, Orange.

FORBES TAKES STAND IN OWN DEFENSE TODAY

Alexander Forbes, of Anaheim, took the witness stand in his own defense today, and described to a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scoville's court the circumstances of an automobile crash in Anaheim February 1, which brought charges of negligent homicide and drunk driving against Forbes.

Forbes, whose car collided with a car driven by Elmer Schmidt, of Anaheim, with fatal results to Schmidt's two sons, David, 9, and Milton, 11, said that the collision occurred near the center of the highway, as both drivers apparently were seeking to avoid the water that had collected at both sides of the street, from heavy rains.

He remembered nothing after the crash, he said. The defense was expected to complete its evidence in time for the jury to receive the case late this afternoon. Among the witnesses waiting to testify today was Lotus H. Loudon, publisher of the Anaheim Bulletin, whose sports editor, James Heffron, was severely injured in the accident.

Party Observes 11th Anniversary

EL MODENA, June 1.—Mrs. Henry Campbell entertained a small group of fifth grade boys recently in honor of her son, Austin, in celebration of his 11th birthday. The children attended a matinee and afterwards were served ice cream, cake, candies and nuts in the Campbell home on North Prospect avenue.

In the group were Austin Campbell, Herbert Wolff, Clifford Cunningham, Roy Smith, Elmer Koenig and James Rippen.

TWO DOZEN HUNTERS BAG BUT ONE BOAR

Of the two dozen men who went to Santa Cruz Island over the weekend, on a bear-hunting expedition, only Theron Means, local hunter, was successful. He brought back an 80-pounder. B. A. Hershey, another local hunter, used his 38 special on one big fellow, but it didn't stop him. "I didn't want to follow him into the brush lands," Hershey, local police officer, said today. "I might not have come out very soon." The vicious hours were hiding out for the weekend, the hunters seemed to think; they reported seeing but six or seven during the island visit.

Police News

Arrested at Washington and North Main, by Officers "Bud" Heard and Ralph Pantuso early this morning, Rudy Shenkosky, 33, 1108 West Sixth street, Santa Ana, was booked at county jail on a charge of drunk driving. He was described in a medical examination report as "markedly intoxicated." Benito Cabrero, 32, El Modena, also was booked on a drunk driving charge after his arrest last night by Rolfe L. Montgomery, city garage foreman, at First and Parion.

City police today were seeking a peeping Tom, reported active last night in the 500-block of Spurgeon street.

While he was at a local beer parlor Saturday night, Ellsworth Burrier, Route 3, Santa Ana, said a man grabbed his gun permit and ran from the place. Burrier said he recently obtained the permit from the sheriff's office and was showing it to friends when the man snatched it and escaped.

Fred Wilson, 610 Porter street, reported thieves stole his Elgin bicycle last night while it was parked at Fourth and Bush streets. City police were checking today.

PRIZE WINNERS ARE NAMED BY REGISTER; PRODUCTION OF WEALTH IS HELD BENEFIT

Helena S. Christensen, 618 McFadden street, Santa Ana won first prize for her discourse on "Production of Wealth is a Service and a Benefit to a Nation and to Society," a theory advanced by The Register.

Fred Stearns, 1124 West Third street, Santa Ana, won first prize for high school and junior college students. No others writing on the subject specified their age and failed to designate their age and will write to The Register second and third prizes in this group will be awarded.

C. H. Stearns, father of Fred Stearns, took second honors in the adult class and R. E. Sutherland of Buena Park captured third place in this group.

Prize money will be sent to the four winners listed above today. Following is Mrs. Christensen's article that won first honors:

"Production of Wealth is a Service and a Benefit to a Nation and to Society."

Production of wealth by an individual develops virtue, provided it is not abused for mere selfish purpose. To the nation and society it is of inestimable service and benefit in starting industries and providing work for the unemployed. The above axiom involves economy. The study of economy presents difficult, complex and intricate problems. In spite of this fact, most of us have had from early youth practical lessons in economy. We learned the value of a dollar by spending our nickels and dimes for necessities instead of luxuries; by saving the larger part of our spending money. In later years our home training was our guide. When thrown on our own resources we aimed to save of our earnings for a bank account.

If an individual spends everything on himself for luxury, pleasure, and what not, then the chances are that he has neither anything for the needy nor for the "Kingdom of the Lord." Supporting the colonists had been made up of people who were thrifty, idle, inefficient, and dishonest, would this great country of ours then have had a chance in developing to the extent that its name has the effect of producing the magic of a veritable eden? A nation does not reach its zenith of prosperity and progress through the contribution of people who are spendthrifts and in need of paternalism. That's why we are today facing so grave a crisis, why we are standing at a crossroad not knowing which way to turn. Extravagance and waste have pulled us into a muddled financial uncertainty and insecurity.

The credit of an individual, of a family, or of a nation depends chiefly upon whether that individual, family, or nation is living within its means. When discretion in spending is thrown to the wind, then credit is destroyed and bankruptcy is the inevitable result. If it befalls a nation then woe to its citizens. Communism or some other correlatingism follows in its wake. In that case all property of an individual, family, and community is confiscated by the state or national government. Whole families are forced to leave their homes to sustain the life of the beasts of the field. This was a lot of many a well-to-do peasant family in Russia.

In 1930 and 1931 Germany stood on the threshold of bankruptcy. The United States came to her rescue. If our government continues piling up debt at the rate it is now doing, we will be in the same boat. No European nation, nor the nation of any other continent will be in a position of aiding us. We must paddle our own canoe. In that day there will be neither debt nor relief work; for the simple reason that there will be nothing left to tax. The funds have long since been squandered by means of payrolls for idleness and inefficient work.

Violating the universal principle that "Production of wealth is a benefit to a nation and society," destroys the morale of a personnel. In its path follows poverty and want. A nation is thrust back to the serfdom of feudalism, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, political and religious freedom are prohibited.

Production of wealth is a blessing; wanton destruction a crime. The gifts of nature should be utilized for the benefit of mankind. That was its purpose from the very beginning of creation. If a farmer on his own hook or initiative destroys the fruits of his field and barnyard bankruptcy and poverty will be his lot. This is a natural consequence. What else can we expect in our national affairs? Millions have been paid to large corporations and to wealthy farmers for the sole purpose of plowing under their wheat and cotton crop and killing of baby pigs. Consequently the citizens of the United States were obliged to buy imported and inferior bacon. On account of the vast stretches of plowed acreage of the Middle West raging dust storms enveloped the land, carrying waste and destruction in their wake. It was the recompense for transgressing the laws of nature. The wealthy and well-to-do farmer was paid amply for this destructive procedure; but the small farmers—those who really needed it were left in the lurch. They received nothing.

In a measure the Federal Reserve Act and the Income Tax have violated the principle that "Production of wealth is a benefit to a nation and society." In the opinion of some financiers these laws were the direct cause of the abnormal credit inflation that reached its peak in 1928. Having mounted to its dizzy height it fell headlong, and the whole nation was paralyzed by the crash of 1929. Upon Hoover and the capitalists was heaped the blame. They were denounced unmercifully, as the enemies of the poor and forsaken. No one seemed to take into consideration the basic fact that the real cause of depression was the aftermath of the World war and abnormal credit inflation. Neither Hoover nor the capitalists were in a position to ward off the latter. It had gained a foothold when the Federal Reserve Act and the Income Tax were brought into the picture. These laws were passed in 1913 during the Democratic administration of Wilson.

Whenever we are circling a cycle where it is easy to borrow money, many people risk the chance of going into debt. Debt runs its course. Eventually it must be paid. It demands recompense, irrespective of being private or national. The time comes when people become skeptical. Those who loaned money called in their funds, as in 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932. It was then when financial chaos ensued. Banks collapsed by the score. Those that were members of the Federal Reserve bank were no exception, as many of them failed as of the others.

Credit inflation is usually followed by monetary inflation to offset the high pitch of credit inflation. Thus it was during the panic of 1837, which followed in the wake of Jackson distributing the surplus funds of the United States treasury into local banks. President Jackson and the Democratic party were severely criticized, though it was done to make it easier for those of small means to borrow money. The privilege was abused and consequently the financial panic of 1837 played havoc. During that time the paper money that had been issued was worthless, for the simple reason that inflation had gone beyond control.

Many of those who have studied the relative value of income tax have come to the conclusion that income tax cripples industry. It therefore violates the premise that "Production of wealth is a benefit to the nation and society as a whole." So does the Postal Savings bank. It runs behind every year which must be made good by taxpayers, including our banks which have in it their means of competition. The Postal Savings bank has been the direct cause of the many State bank failures.

Unnecessary government supervision and interference in business and industry violate the above principle. It has crippled production, progress and employment in regard to public utilities, banking institutions, manufacturing, and agriculture; etc.

Now and then someone claims that the crash of 1929 was due to overproduction. It was neither due to that nor to the "Production of Wealth." Its cause was the aftermath of the World war, and abnormal credit inflation. This was abused by all alike, the poor, the middle class and the rich. Each one tried to get as much advantage of the credit boom as possible. The crash hit all. No one escaped. We learned our lesson. If we are again drawn into a cycle of abnormal prosperity we shall perhaps be more cautious and less optimistic.

Summary
The personal attributes of a nation's citizens that favor the "Production of Wealth for the benefit of a nation and society," are efficiency, thrift, self-reliance, independence. Those that violate the above premise are inefficiency, thriftlessness, extravagance, parasitism.

Laws and acts that retard and violate it, are the Federal Reserve act, the Income tax, and the Postal Savings bank.

Many of the regulations and customs introduced by the Roosevelt regime have violated the axiom. They have caused a set-back to prosperity and progress. They are demoralizing the spiritual and material welfare of the masses through selfish paternalism. Unnecessary government interference in business and industry, abnormal taxation, reckless piling up of an unsurmountable national debt, financial uncertainty caused by monetary inflation, and the many helpless and absurd panaceas of the New Deal have to a large extent retarded "Production of Wealth for the benefit of the nation and society."

EVANGELIST TO CONTINUE HIS CAMPAIGN

After addressing two large congregations Sunday morning and evening, and giving an illustrated lecture to the Sunday school in the morning, at the Free Methodist church, Fruit and Minter streets, Professor C. Dorr Demaray, of Los Angeles, today prepared to continue his "youth evangelistic campaign" at the local church.

Illustrated talks will be given at 4 o'clock each afternoon except Saturday, with gifts for all boys and girls attending. Evangelistic services will be conducted every evening at 7:30 o'clock, also, excepting Saturday.

Professor Demaray, who taught in public schools and colleges for a number of years, has had a wide experience working with young people and children. He is conference evangelist for the young people of the Southern California conference.

NEWPORT BEACH IS VICTOR IN COURT

Following a hearing before Superior Judge H. G. Ames, a temporary restraining order procured by the Beach Preservation Association at Newport Beach, against the Newport Beach city council, to prevent erection of an auto park on beach frontage in the vicinity of the Rendezvous ballroom, was dissolved and a temporary injunction, pending trial of the case, was denied, court records showed today.

The plaintiff group seeks to prevent the erection of the auto park on the ground that it would benefit certain property, rather than the public in general.

A trial date for the case has not yet been fixed. Attorney R. Z. McKinney, of West and McKinney, represents the plaintiffs. City Attorney Roland Thompson appears for the defense.

QUAKER RIDGE REAL TEST

NEW YORK, June 1.—Professionals who participated in it point out that the Metropolitan Open at Quaker Ridge was a splendid dress rehearsal for the United States Open at Baltusrol Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Several of the great money players of the game proved themselves hot, with Paul Runyan, the little man with the bald spoon, cracking the course record with a 67, three under par; Gene Sarazen coming back in 32 for a second 69; and big and blond Craig Wood, and Henry Picard, the Open winter book favorite, well up in a tournament that went to Byron Nelson, a Fort Worth youngster attached to the Ridgewood (N.J.) Country club.

"Quaker Ridge is harder than Baltusrol, yet it offered Open contenders a very similar strategic background, since both courses require a wide variety of shots," says Picard.

In the smooth-swinging Plymouth professionals' eyes, Quaker Ridge is a stiffer test than Oakmont, where most of the stars bumped into so much trouble a year ago.

"What's more, the pins were placed in the center half of the greens and the tees were not shoved back to the limit," asserts Picard. "Jesse Sweetser, the Metropolitan president, leaned back to give us a fair course with no tricks or fixings." The boys are to get the same kind of a deal at Baltusrol, by the way.

Sarazen considers it poor business for a golfer to enter a tournament with any feeling that the layout is soft.

"In a way I'm glad that I played badly on my first practice tour at Baltusrol," declares Sarazen. "You should have seen my struggling on that occasion. Right now I've got no overconfidence, attitude toward Baltusrol, but rather a determination to master it."

Sarazen played himself into contention in the Metropolitan and is likely to roar along when it counts in the Open.

BLAMES SPELLS TO GRIP

Sarazen attributes his being erratic at times to his using the interlocking grip rather than the Vardon overlapping grip.

"The interlocking technique gives greater leverage and whip-like effect, but because it works on the hinge principal it is less reliable and has a lower safety factor," explains the Connecticut country gentleman. "I've got so accustomed to interlocking that I don't dare change."

"My patchy spells come when my hands fight against one another in the interlocking grip. They dovetailed nicely when I got that 69 that led in the first round of the Met Open and when I came back in 32 for my second 69 of the tournament. Those 69's sound swell, but actually I wasn't hitting the ball cleanly. The putts just fell for me."

After 17 years of tournament golf, Sarazen is more than ever convinced that the hands—the only part of the body which touch the club—are the chief factor in the swing.

"Since hard action is the key to good golf, it follows that the grip is the foundation of the swing," says Sarazen. "The overlapping grip is more effective than the interlocking or the two-fisted hold, but any one of them will produce results as long as the grip is made with the fingers rather than with the palm. The palm grip is wrong. You've got to have finger feel."

IRON SHOTS WIN TITLES

Henry Cluel agrees with Sarazen that the particular type of grip isn't all-important as long as the club is held in the roots of the fingers.

"Some novices have a mistaken idea that the shaft should be gripped with the fingertips," asserts Cluel. "That means a loose, flabby grip. You should feel the weight of the clubhead in your swing and let it pull the arms freely through."

In Cluel's opinion, iron shots to the green win Open titles, though Tommy Armour believes that the properly placed drive is decisive and most professionals believe championships are settled on the greens.

"There's a sweet feel to a firmly hit iron shot that gets me," says Cluel. "My motto is 'swing at the ball—don't hit at it.' I teach a square stance, with the club taken straight back in a rather short upswing. I prefer checking the backswing to over-swinging on an iron, because a very full backswing usually means a forced shot."

"Most instructors advise a sharp hit against a braced left side, but my idea is that the body should be kept out of an iron shot and the less you pivot the better. Stay on your feet."

Mexico's Mat King In Bow Here

DON JUAN PICO MEETS SLEDGE ON 'STAR' CARD

TONIGHT'S CARD
Don Juan Olguival Pico vs. Bill Sledge, two out of three falls, one hour time limit.
Mitsui Hamanaka vs. Baby Bob Coleman, two out of three falls, one hour time limit.
"Dirty Dick" Daviscourt vs. Casey Columbo, one fall, 30 minute time limit.
Bill Hansen vs. Vic Hill, one fall, 30 minute time limit.

Senior Don Juan Olguival Pico, first cousin of Paulino Uzcudun and the man selected by a group of El Paso Mexican sportsmen to win the world heavyweight wrestling crown, makes his American debut at the Orange County Athletic club tonight when he faces Bill Sledge, colorful and popular Dixie champion, in one-half of a double three-fall main event.

Baby Bob Coleman and Japan's rubber man of the mat, Mitsui Hamanaka, clash in a catch-as-catch-can battle, a rematch from last week when these two sensational 165-pounders waged a spectacular 30-minute draw without either being able to get a fall.

Although classified as preliminaries, Promoter Sam Sampson offers a four-star main event program with "Dirty Dick" Daviscourt, veteran rougher, and here-tofore a main event, meeting Casey Columbo, one of the cleverest heavyweights performing on the Pacific Coast, and Billy Hansen, the Salt Lake whirlwind meeting the highly touted Vic Hill in the opener.

Sampson has postponed the appearance of the Garden Grove Mexican, Joe Vargas, until next week.

Heralded as a better man than the present champion, Vincent Lopez, and sent to the Coast expressly to meet Vincent Lopez, Senior Don Juan is expected to either make or break himself when he faces Sledge tonight.

"I have the assurance from Don Juan's backers that he is one of the greatest wrestlers in the world," said Sampson, "and am confident that he will crush Sledge and then beat Lopez."

The first match billed on tonight's four-star card, is billed to get under way at 8:30 with another capacity attendance in prospect.

JOE HUNT CAPTURES S. C. JUNIOR TITLE

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(UP)—Joe Hunt, slim, young Los Angeles player, today held the Southern California junior tennis title after scoring a surprise victory over Bobby Riggs, national junior champion, 6-1, 6-2, 2-6, 8-6.

Riggs obtained some consolation from the matches yesterday by teaming with Bernie Coughlan to win the doubles title from Hunt and Gordon Giles, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Priebe Named Fullerton Coach; Jaysee Athletic Merger Urged

BY EDDIE WEST

Two new athletic developments today stirred the Eastern division of the Southern California Junior College association.

They were (1) the appointment of Roy E. Priebe of Santa Paula as football coach at Fullerton to succeed Art Nunn, and (2) the renewal by the stormy Western division of agitation for a merger with the placid eastern schools.

Priebe's appointment came as something of a surprise for the Santa Paula man had not been mentioned in pre-election discussions.

He has been head coach and recreation director at Santa Paula for the past two years. Prior to that time he was at Roosevelt high school in Los Angeles.

M. N. THOMPSON DEFEATS KORFF FOR PREXY CUP

A new trophy—the President's Cup—adorned the sidewalk at M. N. Thompson's residence today. It was emblematic of the Orange county flood control engineer's smashing victory Sunday over Robert Korff in one of the major golf tournaments at the Santa Ana Country club.

Thompson turned back Korff, 5 and 3, to achieve an honor that exactly 84 hoped to accomplish when the event opened seven weeks ago.

The finale ended at the thirty-third hole when Thompson drove a magnificent tee shot to the top of the hill and scored a par 4.

Thompson was two down on the first nine but rallied and was even at 18 and three up at 27. Korff had to concede Thompson two holes in handicap. Thompson's medal was 82-78 to Korff's 78-82.

Thompson's trophy was put up by president M. B. Wellington now in the east. Past winners of the tournament include J. W. Beach in '35, Preston Piper in '34, Jack Robinson, H. B. Van Dine, B. Z. McKinney, E. T. Mateer and Carl Mock.

HARRY OLSON FIRST IN FLAG TOURNAMENT

Finishing 15 feet from the pin on No. 1 green, Harry Olson outstroked a formidable field to capture a Memorial Day flag tourney at the country club. L. J. Bushard gave Olson spirited opposition, planting his banner only five feet from Olson's.

Ray Chapman, third, was 350 yards down the first fairway. Bill Cubbon was 160 yards, F. E. Farnsworth 150 and L. M. Forney 100 yards off the tee. N. W. Miller, Dr. M. A. Patton, Hugh Shields, Rex Kennedy, B. W. McClure, L. W. Bemis and Dean Campbell were all in the cup on No. 18.

AUTOS ON TROT TRACK

ELKS VANQUISH L. A. TEAM AT M'LAGLEN PARK

"Say, demanded the manager of the Angelus Furniture company's softball team, 'do you mean to tell me your club rates as Class C in Orange county? What kind of players have you on Class A and B?'"

This question was hurled at Manager Kenneth Miller of the Santa Ana Elks Saturday night after the Elks had trimmed the Angelus gang, 7-3, at McLaughlin field in Los Angeles.

"Yes, we have a good ball club," admitted Miller, "but there are better ones down where we live. The National league is our 'A' league and the Orange County rates as Class B."

First team from this region to invade the so-called "big league" parks of Los Angeles, the Elks handiuffed the Angelus outfit, which is rated as the third best club in Los Angeles. Gil Yorba pitched four innings and George Stevens, borrowed from the Stars, traveled the last three and hurled runless ball.

Santa Ana got one in the first on hits by Scott, Levens and Clark; one in the fourth on an error, a fielder's choice and Kneeland's single; two in the fifth on hits by Yorba, Scott and Reboin; two in the sixth on Clark's walk and Herb Bowe's double, and two in the seventh on hits by Levens and Reboin. Dungan's fielder's choice, Clark's walk and "Porky" Bell's hit.

COMMERCIALS, MUSTANGS MIX

City league baseball approaches the "crucial" stage this week with only three more weeks left in the first-half pennant scuffle.

Tonight's games bring into action two of the three first place contenders, the undefeated Commercial National bank and the defending champion Elks, beaten only by the First National bank this season.

The Commercial play at 7:30, taking on the South Methodists. The Elks go on at 9 against the Latter Day Saints. The Commercial appear to have the tougher assignment of the two. Jimmy Haynes, young southpaw of the Mustangs, has pitched some fine ball on occasions and might give Mearl Yeoul spirited opposition.

Free from an impressive victory over one of the best clubs in Los Angeles, the Elks are heavy favorites over the Latter Day Saints although the Mormons have signed a new pitcher, Edwin Cox, who did fairly well against the Commercial Nationals in his maiden appearance last week.

The standings:
SANTA ANA CITY LEAGUE
W. L. Pct.
First National Bank 4 0 1.000
Commercial Nat'l Bank 4 0 1.000
Santa Ana Elks 3 1 .750
South Methodists 2 2 .500
Carpenter's Union 2 2 .500
Yeoul's Grocery 1 3 .250
Knights of Columbus 0 4 .000
Latter Day Saints 0 4 .000

7:30—Commercial National Bank vs. South Methodists; 9—Elks vs. Latter Day Saints.

COUNTY LEADERS CLASH

Four clubs are tied for first place in the Orange County league but after tonight there will be only one. Leaders meet leaders at Anaheim and Placentia. Irvine's Beapickers, conquerors of the vaunted new Anaheim team last Friday, travels to Placentia. Brea's Lions invade Anaheim. The other conflict pairs the tallenders, San Juan Capistrano and Huntington Beach, at Huntington Beach.

Ray and Clarence Hapes, Garden Grove football stars from the University of Mississippi, returned from the south last night and are expected to see action with Irvine tonight.

ORANGE COUNTY NIGHT LEAGUE

W. L. Pct.
Irvine 3 1 .750
Anaheim 3 1 .750
Placentia 3 1 .750
Brea 3 1 .750
Riverside 2 2 .500
San Juan Capistrano 0 4 .000

Tonight's Games
Irvine at Placentia; Brea at Anaheim; San Juan Capistrano at Huntington Beach.

COVINA OUSTS RIVERSIDE

Covina continues to set a torrid pace in the American Night league, leading the league with five successive victories.

With Earl Morrill on the mound, the Corsairs virtually eliminated Riverside's erstwhile champions from the inland race Friday, 6-3. Scattering seven hits, Morrill bettered Rudy Heman in a listless match. San Bernardino remained on Covina's heels by drubbing Colton, 10-3. Botts fanned 10 and held Colton to five hits. The standings:

AMERICAN NIGHT LEAGUE
W. L. Pct.
Covina 4 1 .800
San Bernardino 4 1 .800
Riverside 3 2 .600
Arlington 2 3 .400
Colton 0 5 .000

Tomorrow's Games
Colton at Arlington; Riverside at San Bernardino; Covina, bye.

WETHERELL OF S. A. CAPTURES POMONA TITLE

A brand new crown was fit to day to the raven hair of Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana's tennis ace. Yesterday Wetherell won the fourth annual Pomona valley tournament, competition that attracted many of the outstanding netmen of Southern California.

The Santa Ana champion defeated Verne Hughes of Long Beach in the finals, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. A handsome overnight traveling bag was his prize.

Wetherell eliminated Robin Hippenstall of San Bernardino in the semi-finals, 8-6, 7-5. Hughes won from Art Flum of Ontario, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Paired with Fred Wiener of Santa Ana, Wetherell goes back to Pomona a week from Sunday to take a crack at the doubles title as well.

Orange At Olive

Jumping the gun on Santa Ana, Anaheim and Westminster-Huntington Beach, the Orange and Olive National Night league clubs tangle tonight in Olive.

This brings a renewal of the bitter rivalry between the two gateway clubs. Orange broke into the "W" column against Westminster last week and hopes to surge on at Olive's expense.

NEW GOLF GARB

Here is what feminine golfers will wear soon, according to styles from Paris. The trousers and sweaters made their appearance during the British women's championship at Southport, adorning the trim form of Gloria D. Minoprio.

The Fair French entrant drew a large gallery, not only because of her unusual garb, but due to her scoring a 90 while playing a No. 2 iron throughout 18 holes.

Oliver McCarter, kayo king of the amateur middleweight scrapers of Orange county, today agreed to face Cruz Gomez of Ontario in the main event at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night.

With only five fights under his belt since he started boxing McCarter has registered four sensational kayoes and is being side-tracked by practically every mid-dleweight in Southern California.

M'Carter Gets Main Event Here Thursday

Gomez is one of the few who thinks he is capable of beating the Orange football star.

Don Benzor, formerly of Anaheim and "Cyclone" Jure of Anaheim have agreed to box the four round semi-final with Paddy Quinn back in action in the special. Paddy meets Al Jimenez. Five other fights will be booked.

Fullerton, already boasting one big-timer in "Arky" Vaughan, had another name to toast today—Ray Pixley, comparatively unknown racing driver who drove his car into sixth place in the 500-mile Memorial Day speedway race at Indianapolis.

One of the last to qualify, Pixley handled his car masterfully in the classic. His machine was equipped with a motor that Rex Mays had in his car last year.

Pixley originally lived in Anaheim, moving to Fullerton a number of years ago. Like many another Southern California speedster, he started in the game on the old dirt track located between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach. Then he "graduated" to Ascot and other Los Angeles ovals.

Pixley went to Indianapolis with Dick Gaines of Fullerton, brother of "Brick" Gaines, Santa Ana newspaperman.

PETILLO GIVEN 3RD PLACE AHEAD OF ROSE

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1.—(UP)—Kerry Pettillo, Los Angeles Italian who "retired" last year, today was awarded third place behind Louis Meyer and Ted Horn in the Memorial Day speedway race.

Mauri Rose, previously announced as third place winner, was dropped to fourth place in an official audit announced by Charles Merz, chief steward of the race.

Rose ran into his pit when the race was slowed down because Al Miller, Detroit, threw a wheel from his car. Checkers failed to notice Rose's absence and credited him with an extra lap.

Race officials were jubilant over the apparent success of their safety precautions. Miller's was the only accident, although a new record was hung up. Miller's machine threw a wheel as he roared down the straightaway at 115 miles per hour. Miller was thrown from the car and broke a leg. His mechanic, Jimmy Jackson, Indianapolis, was unhurt.

Meyer, who set a record of 109.669 miles, became the first man to win the 500-mile classic three times.

Only 15 of the 33 cars in the starting line finished the race. Four, including Rex Mays, who held the "pole position," and Frank Brisko, were unable to finish under the limit of 37.1-2 gallons of gasoline.

Horn, from Los Angeles, finished second. Following Pettillo and Rose were Chet Miller, Detroit; Ray Pixley of Fullerton, Calif.; Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis; George Barringer, Houston, Texas; Zeke Meyer, Los Angeles, and George Connor, Los Angeles.

CRAWFORD IN 5-SET VICTORY OVER YANKEE

GERMANTOWN CRICKET CLUB, MANHEIM, Pa., June 1.—(UP)—America was eliminated from the 1936 Davis Cup tennis competition today when Jack Crawford of Australia clinched the North American zone finals for his country with a 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Wilmer Allison of Texas.

Crawford's victory gave Australia the edge three matches to one and reduced the fifth and finals singles match which followed between Donald Budge of California and Adrian Quist to nothing more than an exhibition.

Australia qualified to meet the winner of the European zone finals for the right to play England, cup defenders, in the challenge round.

Oliver McCarter, kayo king of the amateur middleweight scrapers of Orange county, today agreed to face Cruz Gomez of Ontario in the main event at the Orange County Athletic club Thursday night.

RAY PIXLEY IS NEW BIG NAME AT FULLERTON

Fullerton, already boasting one big-timer in "Arky" Vaughan, had another name to toast today—Ray Pixley, comparatively unknown racing driver who drove his car into sixth place in the 500-mile Memorial Day speedway race at Indianapolis.

One of the last to qualify, Pixley handled his car masterfully in the classic. His machine was equipped with a motor that Rex Mays had in his car last year.

Pettillo given 3rd place ahead of Rose

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1.—(UP)—Kerry Pettillo, Los Angeles Italian who "retired" last year, today was awarded third place behind Louis Meyer and Ted Horn in the Memorial Day speedway race.

Mauri Rose, previously announced as third place winner, was dropped to fourth place in an official audit announced by Charles Merz, chief steward of the race.

Rose ran into his pit when the race was slowed down because Al Miller, Detroit, threw a wheel from his car. Checkers failed to notice Rose's absence and credited him with an extra lap.

Race officials were jubilant over the apparent success of their safety precautions. Miller's was the only accident, although a new record was hung up. Miller's machine threw a wheel as he roared down the straightaway at 115 miles per hour. Miller was thrown from the car and broke a leg. His mechanic, Jimmy Jackson, Indianapolis, was unhurt.

Meyer, who set a record of 109.669 miles, became the first man to win the 500-mile classic three times.

Only 15 of the 33 cars in the starting line finished the race. Four, including Rex Mays, who held the "pole position," and Frank Brisko, were unable to finish under the limit of 37.1-2 gallons of gasoline.

Horn, from Los Angeles, finished second. Following Pettillo and Rose were Chet Miller, Detroit; Ray Pixley of Fullerton, Calif.; Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis; George Barringer, Houston, Texas; Zeke Meyer, Los Angeles, and George Connor, Los Angeles.

Plans Completed For Legion Meeting At Beach

WATER SPORTS, BAND CONCERT PARADE SLATED

NEWPORT BEACH, June 1.—Plans have been completed for the entertainment of Legion and auxiliary members of the fourth and fifth districts when they hold their pre-convention caucus here June 13 and 14. It was announced today by Al Dyckman, commander of the Newport post, and George Friend, adjutant. The annual pilgrimage of the Los Angeles county council will be held at the same time.

A total of $275 in cash and many suitable Legion trophies will be given away during the two-day celebration to organization bands, drill teams and drum corps and for boat races on the bay.

On Saturday, June 13, water sports and bathing will occupy the early part of the day, and a gigantic Legion ball will be had at the Rendezvous ballroom at night.

The caucus is to be held at the ballroom Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a Legion band parade, a drum corps parade and a show of auxiliary drill teams and other marching units for prizes. Following the parade there will be a band contest at Newport Beach and a drum corps contest at Balboa. Kayak races will be staged at 3 o'clock and a grand final dance will be held at the Rendezvous beginning at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Headquarters for registrations and other matters relative to the celebration will be arranged at the local Legion hall, Tenth street and West Bay avenue, Balboa. Overnight accommodations for guests have been arranged.

Newport Harbor post No. 291 will be host to the visiting units and its officers and committees are in charge of all arrangements.

PLAY GIVEN BY OCEANVIEW CLASS

OCEANVIEW, June 1.—The eighth grade class play "The Black Derby" was given Friday evening at Oceanview school auditorium as a courtesy to the public. The play was presented under the direction of the class teacher, Roscoe Bradbury. Musical numbers included a violin number by Ray McCann; harmonica solo by Leonard Windner and a trumpet solo by Florence Murray.

Placentia Girl, S. A. Man to Marry

PLACENTIA, June 1.—At an informal dinner party given by her mother, Mrs. Sula D. Abbott, the engagement of Miss Dorothy Abbott to Harry Whitney, of Santa Ana, was announced this week. Mrs. Abbott also used the occasion as a time to celebrate the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Lester Rohrs, of Orange, and Earl Zehl, of Anaheim.

The young couple whose engagement was announced are both well known here. Both have been connected with Orange county Christian Endeavor circles for some time. The wedding will be early in 1936.

Others attending the dinner were Mrs. and Mrs. Kenneth Rohrs, of Orange; Miss Esther Bohling, of Fullerton; Miss Marguerite Schlosser, of Anaheim, and Mr. Whitney.

WORK ON BREA-OLINDA HIGH STRUCTURE TO START SOON

BREA, June 1.—Work of reconstructing the administration building of the Brea-Olinda Union High school is expected to get under way in the near future, the bid of W. F. Leach of $155,250 having been approved by the school trustees.

Other bids were as follows: Means, Ball and Honer, $203,000; Stark and Schmidt, $194,000; R. J. Daum, $179,951; Gates and Huntley, $214,000; Construction Engineers, $180,400; E. W. Wapshall, $170,855; C. F. and W. P. Stoner, $181,670.

Approval of the state office of PWA must be secured before the bid can be finally accepted. Stark and Schmidt, of Santa Ana, contractors on the reconstruction of the shop building, have completed their work on the unit. Some work is being done on the gymnasium. This work is being done by the board from its own school funds.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED BY TUSTIN GROUP

TUSTIN, June 1.—Mrs. J. L. Marshall was installed as president of the Tustin Union High school P. T. A. at annual ceremonies conducted by Mrs. H. C. Brown, of Santa Ana, fourth District P. T. A. first vice president, assisted by Mrs. Glenn Warner.

Others placed in office were: Mrs. May W. Borum, first vice president; Mrs. Howard Timmons, second vice president; Mrs. E. E. Ulrich, recording secretary; Miss Clara Macomber, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mina King, treasurer; Mrs. Felton Browning, auditor; Mrs. W. W. Tanti, parliamentarian; and Mrs. E. R. Byrne, historian.

Stewart White, Orange Union High school coach, gave a talk on "Use of Leisure Time" and Mrs. J. L. Marshall gave a report on the recent State P. T. A. convention.

Mrs. W. Tanti, outgoing president, who presided, was presented with a past president's pin by Mrs. Frank H. Greenwood. The Misses Clara Macomber, May Greenleaf, Madge Stephens and Grace Shultz, who are concluding their teaching duties at Tustin High school; Mrs. E. L. Eustis, cafeteria manager, and J. L. Crafts, school janitor, were presented gifts by Mrs. May W. Borum on behalf of the association.

Mrs. E. A. Watson invited the group to a beach party at her balcony cottage June 13. Each person is to bring a covered dish and her own table service. Decision was made not to sponsor a community picnic this year.

Musical numbers presented under the direction of Miss Madge Stephens, were two piano solos, "Improvisation," MacDowell, and "Elegie," Noyes, by Norma Daly; piano solo, "Notturmo," Grieg, by Myrtle Adams, and two songs, "Bells of St. Mary's," Adams, and "My Johnny Was a Shoemaker," Folkson, by the Girls Glee club.

Refreshments of wafers and tea were served, with Mrs. Chester Kenyon and Mrs. L. R. Wilson presiding at the prettily appointed table.

P. T. A. GUILD OF BEACH CITY PRESENTS PLAY

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—A large group witnessed the performance Saturday night of "Outward Bound," staged and produced by the P. T. A. Theater guild of Laguna Beach at the high school auditorium. Special scenic effects added to the dramatic value of the Sutton Vane play, which was directed by Marjorie Williamson.

Outstanding performances were given by William Paul, as "Scrubby"; David Paul, "Tom Prior"; Harwill Robinson, "Mr. Lingley"; Josephine Shanks, who portrayed "Ann"; Margaret Paul, "Mrs. Midgley"; Don Williamson, "Henry"; Priscilla Frazer, "Mrs. Cliveden-Banks"; C. West Densmore, "Rev. William Duke"; and Harrison Parker, "Rev. Frank Thomson."

The action of the three-act drama took place in the smoking room of a ocean liner and the scenes depicted the play as occurring in a harbor, at sea, and covered a time lapse of seven days. The entire story, depicting the reactions of nine individuals in the face of a common situation, made a deep impression on the audience.

Responsibility for the various angles of the production was divided between Mrs. F. B. Morse, president of the High School P. T. A.; Annette Arnold, Marjorie Williamson, Mary Shepherd, Elizabeth Adeline Bonner, Sally Kester, Ruth Bartlett, Don Williamson, Jules Brady, Roger Young, John Marshall, J. Edward Eberle, business manager and treasurer and Mary Langley Herrie, production manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Macomber have opened their house and arrived from Los Angeles Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Earl, of Los Angeles, have closed their Palm Springs residence and taken up residence at their Emerald Bay summer home.

Word has been received that Mrs. Agnes Derby sailed on the S. S. Pennsylvania from New York on May 30, and will arrive about June 14. Mrs. Derby will occupy her residence.

The high school auditorium was filled to capacity and James Cook, director, was accorded generous praise for his work in preparing the cast for presentation of the comedy, which was a lively bit of complicated romance.

Proceeds of the production, estimated as approximately $100, will be turned over to the Woman's club building fund. Between the acts Buddy Foster, well-known vocalist, sang a group of solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. George C. Gillette.

Members of the cast of the play's first production were: Mrs. F. W. Rogers, Mrs. Paul Esslinger, Mrs. M. E. Walters, Mrs. Leslie Panoost, Mrs. Ethan Lunderback, Mrs. Kenneth Haas, A. W. Speers, Bill Henning, Wallace Mahoney and Milas Walters.

Mrs. Charles George is the retiring president. A splendid program is being arranged.

Woman's Club of Garden Grove To Install Officers

GARDEN GROVE, June 1.—Mrs. Archibald Edwards, of Fullerton, county president of Woman's club, will install officers of the Garden Grove Women's club at the last meeting of the club year to be held in the clubhouse Friday afternoon. A supervised pot luck luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock by Mrs. Roy Scott, Mrs. G. A. Luz and Mrs. R. H. Williams. Officers will give yearly reports.

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO BEACH CITY FOR HOLIDAY PERIOD

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—Laguna Beach was host to several thousand visitors over the week-end. Hotels, auto camps and apartments were filled to capacity and all business houses enjoyed a high peak of trade. On Memorial day, the city was colorful with flags. No formal observances were held, services having been given last week in advance of the event.

The heaviest motor vehicle traffic of the present year, passing along the Coast highway, which runs through the town, was handled smoothly, extra patrol and crossing service having been provided under Chief Abe W. Johnson. At Broadway, Forest avenue, Laguna avenue and outlying points, were stationed special officers, in addition to the regular force, Jack Blakeney, Paul Johnson, Howard J. Allanson and Richard Smith. Not a single accident marred the weekend, the abolition of diagonal parking on the boulevard enabling traffic to utilize virtually another added traffic lane. No arrests were made for traffic or other violations.

At the various beaches between Diver's Cove and Arch Bay, hundreds of swimmers took advantage of perfect weather.

SUMMER PROGRAM PLANNED AT BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—Coincident with the opening of the 1936 summer season, much activity is being manifested at Emerald Bay. A life-guard will be assigned to duty on the Emerald Bay beach, it was announced at the office of Recreational Properties, in addition, provision will be made for various beach sports. On Sunday, June 8, an exhibition of diving helmet technique will be given by E. J. Dirking and Francis Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Macomber have opened their house and arrived from Los Angeles Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Earl, of Los Angeles, have closed their Palm Springs residence and taken up residence at their Emerald Bay summer home.

THE GLAMOROUS ADVENTURE

by Jean Seiwright © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GAIL EVERETT, winner of a prize for costume design offered by a large silk manufacturing company, comes to New York to find work. She is hired—due to a stroke of luck—by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEER HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail, and offers her friendly advice. He is a bit of a dandy, but a real character. He is the only one who understands Gail's position.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XI
NATALIE PRESTON faced Gail across the threshold. "I hope you managed to get along without your scissors," she said. "I haven't had a chance to return them before. Oh—were you going somewhere?"

It was Saturday afternoon and Gail's week-end case, partly packed, lay open on the couch. "Yes, I'm going to Long Island. You surely don't think I'd be going down to the shore all by myself?"

"Hardly! What train are you trying to make?" asked Natalie. "I'm not going by train." "Your friends are coming for you in their car?"

"Yes, Dick Seales will be here any minute." "Dick Seales!" Natalie repeated. "Not one of the rich Seales who give so much to charity?"

Gail smiled. "Well, this is the only family of that name which I know. They have a lovely home and I know Dick's parents are very philanthropic."

The telephone tinkled. "That must be Dick now!" Gail picked up the receiver while Natalie rose and looked out of the window. Parked in front of the door was a long, slim car that looked as though it was brand new. Natalie's green eyes hardened. Some people certainly seemed to have all the luck!

NATALIE turned as she heard the receiver click in its cradle.

"But Dick, I don't see how you..."

TUSTIN DAILY BIBLE SCHOOL OPENS JUNE 8

TUSTIN, June 1.—With "Character Building" as the theme, the annual vacation church summer school of the First Presbyterian church of Tustin will open June 8 and extend for a three weeks' period, closing June 25. The pastor, the Rev. Calvin A. Duncan, announced today. The school will be held from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

There will be classes for primary, juniors and junior high groups with a superintendent for each of the three departments. Children from the age of six years up through the ninth grade are welcome to attend this free school.

Included in the courses will be Bible stories, Bible memorizing, religious geography, Bible drills, scriptural book making, a worship service in which boys and girls will be taught the meaning of reverence and worship and prayer, a supervised play period and a chorus and song period.

Mrs. S. H. Matthews, of Tucson, Ariz., mother of Mrs. Calvin A. Duncan, will be director of the school and will be assisted by Mesdames John W. Sauer, George Gaylord, Charles Marshall, Calvin A. Duncan, R. E. Carswell, Louis Ebel, Sylvia Wieden, Ed. C. Dietrich and the Misses Marjorie Rawlings, Marian Carson, Audrey Pieper, Helen Furgason, Barbara McCarter and others. The Rev. Mr. Duncan will be in charge of special work with the school.

Reception Held By Church Group

PLACENTIA, June 1.—More than 100 guests attended the reception given for Lawrence Allen, of Garden Grove, by the Dorcas society and the members of the Calvary church at the church recently. The honored guest has just returned from school in the east.

The program of the evening included songs and readings and S. L. Massburn presided. Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Ira MacNamee were chairman of the Dorcas society committee in charge.

ABOUT SYNDICATES

I have received the following questions about syndicates:

Why is material syndicated?

What kind of material can you syndicate?

How do you go about syndicating material?

Material is usually syndicated because the writer feels it is suited to that particular type of distribution. Syndicate material is usually unsuited to any other type of publication.

Syndicates may be compared to wholesale houses. They gather together the manuscripts of writers and sell them on a wholesale basis. Most syndicates depend upon newspapers for a sales outlet. There are also certain types of magazines that use syndicated material; also feature sections of the Sunday newspapers.

In general, the syndicates use brief material; that is, inspirational articles, homemaking helps, articles on the care and feeding of children; diet articles, fashion articles, etc. This forms the bulk of the syndicate business, along with news photographs. If you want to find out exactly what type of material the average newspaper syndicate uses, LOOK AT YOUR OWN NEWSPAPER—the articles on the woman's page, in fact all through the paper you will see syndicated material, with the name of the syndicate printed in small type along with the article.

Syndicates also buy short stories and serials. These should be romantic, moral in tone, free from underworld taint, questionable scenes or dialog. Sometimes a serial will violate these taboos, but not often. I don't know why the newspaper syndicates are so careful about the type of material they buy when the most of the newspapers to which they sell flout headlines about almost every crime under the sun, but they are—and that's that.

Cartoons and cartoon strips are bought by the syndicates, as well as occasional poems and sermonettes.

The price paid is usually small at first. More often the writer is offered a royalty arrangement, which is entirely fair, because when a syndicate feature is new it is not likely to have many buyers; later, as it grows in popularity, it may be worth real money, and the writer who has sold his product outright may be pretty much the loser.

If you have something you are SURE is worth syndicating, you should write at least twelve articles of the proposed series, and send them to a syndicate that is known to purchase the kind of material you have to offer. There is no reason why you should run around in circles trying to find the names of such syndicates. They're in your own newspaper—if not the one you take regularly, try some of the others available in your neighborhood.

There are writer's magazines in the public libraries everywhere, and from these you can obtain a list of newspaper syndicates. This will give you the addresses of the syndicates you have selected for your series.

Yes, I know this is a little trouble. But writing is not a rocking chair business. If you are wedded to your old rocking chair you had better take up tating or cross word puzzles, because writing success is not going to fall in your lap like an overripe plum.

Send a letter with your submitted material, giving a brief outline of what you propose to do in future articles. Keep the letter brief and clear. If your articles have merit they will speak for themselves.

YEAR-ROUND TROUT FISHING MADE POSSIBLE

Bringing the healthful outdoor sport of trout fishing every day in the year within the range of thousands more people Manager Leigh G. Garnsey of the Rainbow Angling clubs, with private fishing preserves at Redlands and Azusa, announces a reduction of dues for all club privileges to six dollars a year and waiving of initiation fees effective immediately.

Founded 17 years ago in 1919 the Rainbow clubs have been operated by Garnsey as exclusive sportmen's resorts. At the Redlands location on the Mill Creek road hatcheries producing a million baby trout a year are maintained in conjunction with a rustic clubhouse, cabins for overnight stays.

White water stream fishing prevails at the Redlands club. Grills for cooking the trout caught are provided at both clubs.

At Azusa a large clubhouse located at the east end of Tenth street provides all the first class accommodations of a country club with dining rooms, card and lounge rooms overlooking a lake over an acre in extent. Stocked with rainbow and eastern brook trout with a minimum size of eight inches the lake, supplied with snow waters from Mount Baldy, gives a mountain atmosphere.

Both clubs are open every day in the year for trout fishing from 7 to 7 o'clock to members and their guests. According to Manager Garnsey they are institutions unique in their class, being the only fishing organizations operated strictly in the club manner.

WORLD'S END

LATE in 1935, Charles Darwin arrived at a group of islands lying on the equator in the Pacific, where he found strange birds and animals that helped him formulate his revolutionary theory of evolution. Here, amid hundreds of craters and cold lava rock, he found the huge tortoises called "galapagos," from which the islands got their name.

Today, these Galapagos Islands are the "world's end" for scientists and adventurers. Arrivals find there a fascination which led the Spaniards, who discovered the group centuries ago, to call them "The Enchanted Isles." Today, hardly a tortoise exists there, but many of these strange old creatures may be found in zoos throughout the world. Owned by Ecuador, the islands originally harbored a penal colony.

Early in 1936, Ecuador issued a set of stamps for the islands. The stamp shown here pictures a "galapagos."

ANNUAL TEA OF JAYSEE AWS TO BE WEDNESDAY

The Associated Women Students of the Santa Ana Junior college today completed their final plans for the annual A. W. S. tea to be held Wednesday from 2 to 5 p. m. The mothers and friends of the Jaycee students will be guests for the afternoon.

The affair will be held in the men's and women's lounges on the North Main campus. The two lounges have been recently opened after redecoration by the students themselves under the direction of the art department. Decorations for the afternoon will be planned to harmonize with the new interiors of the lounges.

Miss Mary Lou McFarland, president of the A. W. S. this semester, is chairman of the tea, working with Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, dean of women. Committees for the afternoon are headed by Miss Jean McAuley, invitations; Miss Mary Paxton, decorations; Miss Louise Sexton, refreshments; and Miss Alice Compton, program. The Misses Ruth Warner and Janet Deihl will pour. The two are past presidents of the A. W. S.

LOCAL CARPENTERS HOSTS AT DANCE

Members of the Santa Ana chapter of the Carpenters' Union were hosts Saturday to members and wives of Laguna Beach and Anaheim Carpenters' Union, at a dinner and dance in Carpenters' hall, 402 West Fourth street. Dinner was served to 150 members and guests.

Following the dinner and a musical program featuring Robert Owen, Laguna Beach vocal soloist, those attending enjoyed an evening of dancing. The committee in charge of arranging the affair included R. O. Billingsley, George Rupert, Earl Fromm, Ed Boudetta and Art Lindall.

JIMMY FIDLER in -HOLLYWOOD-

HOLLYWOOD — Socially, the stars run in cliques; they are as cliquish as Tennessee mountaineers. Each group has its individual social interest, and the cliques seldom merge personnel or ideas. Fine music, for instance, is the current center around which revolve Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone, Claudette Colbert, Gary Cooper and others of the ultra Brentwood Heights set. Joan is ring-leader and she is constantly off on some up-the-social-ladder tangent; music just happens to be her momentary fad.

The polo crowd numbers such as Spencer Tracy, Darryl Zanuck, Will Rogers, Jr., Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, Jack Holt, and Hoot Gibson. There are more, but these outstand. Next, there is the literary group, comprised of stars who are not only intelligent but well educated. As you may have guessed, this clique is least populous. Lionel Barrymore, Edmund Lowe, Frances Marion, and a few more belong. They shun games and athletics; they spend their social hours discussing the arts, or righting (among themselves to be sure) world affairs.

Then there is the Jimmy Cagney, Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Robert Montgomery crowd. They do things you and I enjoy. Attend auctions; go to Chinatown for dinner; visit Main street burlesque shows. Things the Joan Crawford clique would never dream of doing. And finally, a farming element is growing in popularity, primarily because everybody likes to go back to the soil occasionally. Al Jolson, Bing Crosby, Ann Dvorak, Joel McCrea and Frances Dee, Richard Dix are just a few of this group. They call themselves "gentlemen farmers", and some even go so far as half-heartedly spade a bit of soil. Primarily, however, they are land owners; hired hands do the real farming.

When George Olsen arrived in Hollywood for his summer season, Harold Lloyd suggested that he join Lakeside Golf club, and volunteered to sponsor him. A few days later, Olsen sought out the club's new manager and said, "Harold Lloyd gave you my name. I am George Olsen, the orchestra leader." The manager lifted his eyebrows. "We don't want to hire an orchestra," he said.

One of the most charming romances in Hollywood still exists between Florence Eldridge and Fredric March, eight years married. Casually viewing them together, you might tell yourself they were sweethearts, unless you happened to know they were man and wife. Florence often visits March on movie sets, and on such occasions Freddie can scarcely wait until he is free to leave the camera and go to her side. Oblivious to the presence of company and perhaps tourist visitors (if any are fortunate enough these days to be permitted on sets), they withdraw to a far corner, and, likely as not, hold hands. History's most romantic lover could not have been more tender than is Freddie; he reminds of an eager young swain.

COUNCILMEN LEAGUE SESSION

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—All members of the city council of Laguna Beach, with the exception of Councilman Howard G. Heisler, who is on leave of absence, attended the May 28 session of the Orange County League of Municipalities, which took place at La Habra. Much information was gathered bearing upon uniformity of business licenses, which has been partly taken care of by adoption of Laguna's recently-passed ordinance. At future meetings of the League of Municipalities, which meets are held monthly, Mayor Luther F. Malow will be the official representative of Laguna Beach.

S. A. QUEEN OF SALINAS RODEO IN NEW TEST

Barbara Rowland, queen of last year's Salinas Rodeo, and daughter of Mayor Fred Rowland of Santa Ana, will again enter into competition with hundreds of Southern California girls. The competition, according to an announcement made through a Los Angeles organization today, will be in the nature of a beauty contest.

The contest will be held under the supervision of the Los Angeles junior chamber of commerce, and the winner will act as Los Angeles county's representative at the coming Salinas rodeo. Louis R. Rowan, chairman of the junior chamber of commerce committee, announced 12 entries have already been filed. The finals in the contest will be held at the Up-lifters' club, June 21, under the auspices of the Junior League motion picture committee.

Rules of the contest demand ability to ride a horse in the western manner, Rowan announced. The girls not only must be beautiful, but must also be intelligent and charming. Miss Rowland's sponsors declare she fills all the qualifications.

MAYOR HARRY HALE HONORED AT MEET

Former Mayor Harry Hale of Fullerton was honored last week at the La Habra meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities. A resolution of appreciation for the services rendered the organization by Hale while he was a member, was adopted and the membership voted to make him an honorary member. Hale's defeat at the last election automatically cancelled his membership in the league.

There was no regular business scheduled for the meeting and three speakers discussed several phases of municipal business. M. Telford, city attorney for Culver City, spoke on "Business Licenses" and in his talk touched on the duties of new councilmen.

Other speakers were: Winston Updegraff, editor of Western City, and Louis Burke, legal adviser for the State League of Municipalities.

The first of the Rockefeller's, John Peter, immigrated to America from Germany in 1723.

HALF MILLION BOOKS ARE CIRCULATED HERE IN YEAR

Reading has been a popular way of spending leisure time in Santa Ana since the city was founded in 1869, and as a means of entertainment or instruction, reading is increasing daily according to old records of the public library and new records supplied by the librarian, Miss Ethel Walker. The old records were found in an article on the Santa Ana library published in the Santa Ana Blade for May 12, 1906, the property of Ray B. Stedman, 624 French street.

Basing figures on monthly averages, 205 children's books; 21 fine arts; 39 literature; 39 drama, essays, politics and travel; 15 history; 799 fiction; 34 periodicals and the remainder bibliography and foreign languages.

There was a time not so many years ago when the books circulated at the only library in Santa Ana, the forerunner of the present institution, set a record of 20 in one day, according to a report of the library board of trustees dated April, 1878, when the first library was established with 50 patrons. Later the rental library became a free institution. When first opened as a rental library a charge of 25 cents a week was made. Mrs. O. B. Hall was president of the board. Mrs. R. J. Blee was treasurer. Dr. J. G. Bailey secretary and Mrs. C. E. French, librarian.

Twenty dollars was used to buy books and others were donated. C. E. French donated a wardrobe as a book case, placing shelves in it. The first book donated was entitled, "The Habits of Good Society."

According to an account of the early days of the library printed in the Santa Ana Weekly Times edited by Frank Cobler, in April, 1879, the play "Richieu," was presented under the direction of Col. W. F. Heathman and a hundred dollars was added to the library fund. Those in the east were Miss Dona Lewis, later Mrs. Dora Mellette, E. A. Parker, W. H. Halesworth, Clarence Sheats, Charles Nichols, Arthur Johnson and Marlon Aubrey.

W.C.T.U. Aids Library
When the W.C.T.U. was formed in 1886, the library of 400 volumes was added to the 100 volumes collected by the union and all of the books were placed in charge of the organization. The first library was located in the office of Judge C. W. Humphreys at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, where the Montgomery Ward and company store is now located. The library was housed by the W.C.T.U. at 112 East Fourth street.

On September 1, 1891, the library was transferred to the city to be supported by a tax levied for the purpose. At the time of the transfer the highest number of books circulated was 20 in one day while shortly after its establishment as a free library, 135 books was the maximum number issued with a record of 950 for the year.

On October 1, 1892, the library was moved to 121 East Fourth street where it remained until it was moved to its present location. Circulation for the year ending May 1, 1905, was 35,000. Miss Jeanette McFadden served the city as librarian for more than 30 years, but two librarians preceded her, Mrs. Kernodie and a Miss Garnett.

WOMAN IS ONLY CANDIDATE FOR POST OFFICE

Only one candidate—a woman—has filed to take the examination to be held at Garden Grove, for the postmastership at Stanton, the Civil Service Commission announced today.

Application for the Stanton postmastership closed May 29. Should any additional applications arrive in Washington showing by their postmark that they were mailed before that date, they will be entitled to consideration, officials said.

The only applicant listed to date is Mrs. Mary Jane Davis. A date for the examination will be set shortly, and notice sent to all applicants who may have properly filed, it was said. Following the examination, the Civil Service Commission will certify a list of eligibles, three if possible, from which selection of the new Stanton postmaster will be made.

The Stanton post office is a fourth class office. Its postmaster is paid a sliding scale, based on stamp cancellations and money order sales at the office.

Christian Science

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon on Sunday denounced ancient and modern necromancy, alias mesmerism and hypnotism. The same Lesson-Sermon was presented in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. These words of Jesus were the Golden Text: "They that observe lying vanities forsake their own mercy."

A Bible citation in the Lesson-Sermon included these passages from Isaiah: "And when they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God? . . . To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to the word, it is because there is no light in them." Another citation presented this verse from Leviticus: "Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human."

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

Bob Cooper, a traveling salesman, ran out of gas while driving through Missouri. He walked to a nearby farm house to see if the farmer there could supply him with gasoline. The farmer said, "I have an eight gallon can full of gasoline and I'll let you have four gallons of it if you can measure it out with the use of an empty five gallon can and an empty three gallon can."

How did Cooper do it?

U. S. AGENTS IN AREA SECURING LAND OPTIONS

Agents of the Resettlement Administration are now at work in Orange county, preparing for a $185,000 farm project that is to be established here, it was learned today.

The area, which will be known as the Santa Ana Gardens is now in its final stages of planning by the Washington offices of the Resettlement Administration, and is on the approved list.

Although headquarters for the Gardens are to be at Santa Ana, the exact location of the community within the county is being withheld for the present. Officials explained that if the location of the project became known, land prices in the county would be raised so high that it would be impossible to secure enough land at reasonable prices.

Work Awaits Options
Construction work will begin as soon as the required acreage is under option, and the options accepted, and the final plans approved by the Administration.

Settlers in the Gardens will be imported from other sections of the country, where they have been living on sub-marginal agricultural land which has not yielded them a living.

Most of the construction work on the project will be done by the settlers themselves, although local skilled labor may be used for some of the technical work.

Although it was revealed that thirty families would be cared for, the exact size of the farms has not yet been made public.

Completion of the Gardens will require over a year, and while the land is under the ownership of the Federal government, it will not be taxable, according to a ruling of the Comptroller General.

Non-Profit Project

Upon completion of construction work, Santa Ana Gardens will be turned over to a non-profit community association. This association will be composed of all of the two representatives of the Resettlement Administration as incorporators. The association will be incorporated under the laws of California.

When the project is later turned over to the community association on its completion, it will be taxed in the same way as any other privately owned property in the state.

In addition to holding title and paying taxes, the association will be charged with the general supervision of the project, and the collection of funds due the government. While construction work is going on, a project manager of the Resettlement Administration will be in charge.

A selling price at which the Gardens will be turned over to a community association will be worked out on the basis of cost, appraised value, and the ability of the residents to pay. On the other hand, the Administration may, if it wishes, sell the entire property for a dollar, or give it away.

Sales Agreements
Permanent sales agreements will be entered into between the association and the residents which provide for monthly payments over a term of 40 years, with interest at three percent, which is to be turned over to the government. The interest will be amortized so that the residents will pay only on the remaining unpaid balance.

Although the residents may make 20 payments in advance, thus reducing their interest charges, the fortieth payment must be made at the end of the 40 year period. The 40 year payment schedule will be maintained at Santa Ana Gardens, as well as others, to prevent speculative profits, mortgaging the property with the consequent possibility of losing it, and in order to protect the interest of the government during the amortization period.

In addition to the regular payments to the community association, future residents of Santa Ana Gardens will have other housing charges such as taxes, maintenance, insurance, and supervisory expenses of the association.

Pay Monthly Fee
Because of the large financial interest of the Government, each of the future tenants will be required to pay $250 per month, until a reserve of $150 has been set up for each family.

This fund will act as a guarantee that each individual will maintain his property. The reserve fund will be used only in case he does not maintain his property voluntarily. Whenever the reserve fund is reduced below $150, he will be required to resume the monthly payment until the minimum reserve is restored.

From the time of his first payment, the resident will have an equity in his future home based on the amount paid. Should a resident desire to sell his home, the community association will take over the property for the amount of the equity.

Resettlement officials stated that several months would be required to obtain the necessary land options for the Santa Ana Gardens, but that construction would be under way early in fall.

No date for the acceptance of applications for tenancy in Santa Ana Gardens has been set as yet. Tenancy will be limited to persons in the low income groups, who have, however enough prospective earning power to make them a good risk for the Resettlement Administration.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Art Association Parties
Continue Social Interest

No less active in the interests of Laguna Beach Art association in the northern part of Orange county than in this section, hostesses there are continuing the series of parties launched when Mrs. James Irvine entertained at luncheon in mid-May. Latest of these pleasant events was planned by Mrs. Georgia B. Swan, Anaheim chairman for the membership drive, and her committee, Mrs. H. E. W. Barnes, contact chairman; Miss Dorothy Yungbluth, treasurer, and Miss Florence Backs, publicity chairman.

Their hospitality took the form of a breakfast for which Laguna wood country club, Long Beach, provided pleasant setting, with its charms enhanced by the graceful arrangement of yellow and blue blossoms on the tables arranged for half a hundred guests.

Guest Artist
The hostess group introduced as guest speaker, Don F. Palmerton, celebrated artist of Los Angeles, whose informally presented talk on "What is Art?" proved to be entertaining and instructive to the guests. Mr. Palmerton showed a number of his paintings, interest in which was keen. No less interesting to the guests were the many canvases by members of the Laguna Beach Art association which will be given as prizes at the close of the membership drive. This is the same group of pictures that received such appreciative attention recently when one exhibit at the tea-musical given in El Niguel Rancho home of Mrs. Lewis P. Moulton at El Toro.

After Mrs. N. E. West of Laguna Beach had explained the purpose of the drive, and the value to the community of a concerted interest in retaining the art gallery at "Our Village," the hostesses introduced the after-breakfast diversion of bridge. Prizes were awarded holders of high score at each of the various tables, with a special cup prize which was won by Miss Jessie Johnston.

Cities Represented
Guests were present from every section of the county, with Santa Ana represented by Mrs. Lew Blodgett; Fullerton by Mrs. J. W. Bennis; Newport by Mrs. Eugene Feneion; Balboa by Mrs. Frank Remington; Orange by Mrs. Frank Flishe; Placentia by Mrs. Sam Kraemer and Mrs. Thomas Moe; Laguna Beach by Mrs. Harry Gordon Martin; Mrs. Lou Merritt and Mrs. N. E. West; Huntington Beach by Mrs. J. K. McDonald; Mrs. B. W. Hardy and Mrs. E. Kettler.

Larger representation was shown by various other cities and communities, including Los Angeles guests who were Mesdames Robert E. Coker, Max Love, Clare Kinne, Frank Van Patten, Emily Kreis and Virginia Chevin. Long Beach, represented by Mesdames Jane Tucker, G. J. Stroddoff, Leland Bower, E. D. Allen, Otto Hoyt, W. G. Boyer, E. D. Walton and Miss Helen Meyers, and Anaheim guests who were Mesdames H. A. Johnston, Jack Neville, Jefferson Rust, H. A. Pearson, J. Lee Haver, J. W. Wallis, H. M. Adams, P. A. Yungbluth, H. Burnham, H. H. Benjamin, C. S. O'Toole, Minnie Peters, J. P. Brastad, George D. Griffith, Ted Kuchel, Miss Jessie Johnston and Miss Sally Newkirk.

Tri-Y Girls Install
Tonight at Banquet

Miss Betty Neff will become president of Tri-Y Girls Reserves to succeed Miss Helen Lowe tonight at an annual pa-ma-and-me banquet to be held at 6 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Other officers to be installed are the Mesdames Maxine Knigh, vice president; Helen Rowell, secretary; Alice Bacon, treasurer; Betty Frye, program chairman; Jacqueline Morrison, social; Helen Hicks, service; Gerry Peck, ring circle; Marjorie Valmer, devotionals.

Closing the ceremony will be presentation of rings to Girl Reserves who have maintained the highest standards during the year.

Order of Beauceant

Seventy-five members and guests of Social Order of Beauceant took part in the reciprocity luncheon which the local organization staged last week in Masonic temple. Mrs. W. E. Patterson, general chairman of the event, was assisted by Mrs. J. W. Shaw, Mrs. Howard Wassum and Mrs. Elton Roehm as members of the decoration committee. Mrs. A. R. Muller was dining room chairman. Luncheon was served at tables where place cards and other appointments were in keeping with a pink, white and yellow color scheme. Bridge was played during the afternoon, with Mrs. Dean West of Long Beach winning first prize.

Saturday To Bring Final
Club Affair

Junior Ebells society will hold its closing event of the year Saturday afternoon at 1 p. m. in the clubhouse, when installation of officers will be a feature of a luncheon program to be followed by a card party. Mrs. Crawford Naile will become president to succeed Miss Nan Mead.

Others to be installed are Mrs. Harold Dale, Miss Elizabeth Smith, first and second vice-presidents; Mrs. Lee Smith, secretary; Mrs. C. B. McKinney, treasurer; Mrs. Charles McDaniell Jr., curator. Mrs. Ralph Watson is general chairman of plans for the luncheon, which will take the place of the evening meeting in June. Mrs. James Workman, chairman of tickets, has the assistance of Mesdames George Bradley, Carl Taylor, Kenneth Coulson, John Taylor, and other committee members are Mesdames Herbert Stroschne, Charles Albert Harvey, bridge; Edwin Clarke, tables; C. B. McKinney, decorations.

Reservations for the event should be made in the very near future with Mrs. Watson. It was announced today by Mrs. Lee Smith, publicity chairman for the party. Luncheon will be served by the Doris-Kathryn Tea Shoppe.

Local Parlor Presents
California Flag to Spurgeon School

Spurgeon school, which bears the name of the founder of Santa Ana, received a California bear flag as a gift from Santa Ana parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West Friday morning at ceremonies in the school.

The occasion served as a celebration of the founding of the city of Santa Ana 50 years ago by the late W. H. Spurgeon, and of the organizing of the order of Native Daughters of the Golden West 50 years ago by Miss Lily O. Riching, now Mrs. Dyer.

Mrs. E. L. Lemon, the parlor's chairman, gave history and landmarks, a three by five foot mounted silk banner on a tripod. She explained that the flag is emblematic of the courage and steadfastness of the pioneers in their effort to establish the statehood of California.

In giving the flag to the school, the parlor complimented one of its charter members, Miss Elsie Carter, a member of Spurgeon teaching staff.

Walter Egger, school principal, and Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson, gave short talks. County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson told of the origin of the bear flag, and reviewed the early history of the state of California.

Musical selections were given by Betty Jean Koster, who played the piano; and Richard Watson, who played the xylophone and drums. Community singing of "I Love You California" brought the program to a close.

Native Daughters present were Mrs. J. H. Bray, parlor president, and Mesdames Fred Marsile, Florence Watson, Amanda Greenleaf, Hazel Flaherty and daughter, Patricia; E. L. Lemon and Miss Elsie Carter.

Hike to Saddleback

Spending Friday night in the John Wyne cabin at Trabuco Canyon, a group of young people from Church of the Brethren arose early Saturday for a hike to Saddleback. They arrived at the peak to be welcomed by the forest ranger and his wife, who served coffee to the group.

Making the trip were the Mesdames Vivienne Wyne, Alberta Hoover, Alberta Hill, Mary Hill, Caroline Hoag, Mary Ellen Anderson, Geraldine Cole, Ruth Dunlap; Messrs. Harold Baker, Donald Baker, Lee Baker, Clarence Lane, Kenneth Thomas, Thomas Cole, Milton Mitchell and the advisor, W. C. Dunlap. Although the altitude was quite clear for the first half of the hike, it was foggy by the time the group reached the mountain top.

Many Attend Dance

Seventy-five couples attended the semi-formal dance which Capistrano Y. L. L. staged as a benefit affair Friday night in Ebells clubhouse peacock room.

Mrs. Thomas Giesler and Miss Estelle Schlesinger were co-chairmen of the dance, which proved to be one of the most successful affairs given by the Institut. Flowers were arranged effectively throughout the room. Lattice work which adorned the stage was studded with flowers and greenery. Don Clark's musicians from Fullerton provided music. Favors for feminine guests were lavender bags in pastel tints.

Assisting the co-chairmen on the ticket committee were Mrs. William Maag, Miss Gerry Haupt and Mrs. Walter Markel.

Bridge Event
Brings Close
To Luncheons

Bringing to a conclusion the series of luncheons with which she has added interest to the spring social season, Mrs. Thomas H. Glenn entertained Friday in her home, 2473 Riverside drive, at a twin event to her hospitality of the preceding day.

Much the same striking decorative effect achieved by the use of latus blossoms in all their waxy loveliness that had characterized Thursday's party, was maintained for the later event. To the variety of blossoms gracing the home was added the many flowers provided by Mrs. Samuel M. Davis. These were in similar variety, with deep and vivid colors of sweet william, iris, larkspur and other garden flowers in artistic blending.

Contract was played in the after-luncheon interval, with high and low scores made by Mrs. Aldrie Worswick and Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, and medium score made by Mrs. Davis, rewarded with attractive gifts.

Mrs. Glenn plans to make this her final gesture of hospitality before her departure at an early date for Middlebury, Vt., where she will resume her post as a member of the faculty of the French summer school there. In August she will sail for France for a visit in her girlhood home, so her Santa Ana friends will not see her again until after the Christmas holidays. During her absence, Mrs. Glenn will teach in Santa Ana junior college summer school and work for his Ph. D. at U.S.C. before resuming his faculty duties in September at junior college.

Mrs. Glenn's guest list for her concluding party included Mesdames J. Frank Burke, W. Maxwell Burke, Samuel M. Davis, J. E. Gowen, Alice Hill Hatch, E. E. Keech, Loyal K. King, Ralph Smedley, Robert G. Tutill, Aldrie Worswick, M. Northrup Wyatt and Rowland P. Yeagle.

Ways and Means Group
Stages Successful
Card Party

Climaxing a successful year for Woman's club of Santa Ana ways and means committee was the benefit party which its members staged Friday afternoon in the attractive home of Mrs. J. E. Prentice, 1680 East First street.

Decked with colorful flowers, both upstairs and downstairs rooms were thrown open to the group during the afternoon. Other events were preceded by the serving of strawberry shortcake at small tables which were invitingly appointed.

Games were in play at 20 tables for the remainder of the afternoon. Mrs. Leslie Pearson, who scored high in contract, also won the grand prize, which was a quilt. Mrs. William Wells scored high in auction; Mrs. William Whitehead, in anagrams. Card prizes were of pottery. To Mrs. George S. Richardson went a lamp as door prize.

Mrs. J. F. Jacoby, ways and means committee chairman, was in charge of arrangements for the party. Working with her were Mesdames J. V. Vernon, C. C. Ream, J. Edmund Snow, Minnie Collins, P. R. Arnold, Earl Lepper, Fern Tarbox, Leland Ewbank and Miss Lillian Wennstrom.

Tea Series Provides Many Enjoyable Church Parties

When a series of musicale teas was determined upon as a means of furthering friendly associations of women of the First M. E. congregation as well as increasing the funds with which work of the church is administered, even those responsible for the idea did not foresee the extreme pleasure that the parties would give. They were presented during the past week, the majority of them in homes, but one quite as pleasant, finding setting in the church social rooms.

The idea of this friendly series originated with Mrs. Theo. A. Winbiger, and she and Mrs. J. Frank Burke joined as hostesses at one of the functions, in the Winbiger home, 207 East Ninth street.

In Winbiger Home

There was a wealth of flowers of every color and form to lend grace to this hospitable home, and there was a pleasant program such as characterized each of the events. Mrs. John Clarkson gave a group of readings; solos were sung by Mrs. Harry N. Hayes with Miss Carrie Seaton as accompanist, and by Mrs. Fred Hein with Mrs. Jack Snow at the piano, who also served as accompanist for Miss Audria Fey's whistling solos. Mrs. J. S. Smart and Mrs. John Wehrly poured tea served with other dainties with which the flower-decorated tea table was laden.

Guest Artists

Each of the guest artists of the afternoon gave their services at other teas in progress, especially that in the church parlors where Mrs. Henry Guthrie, Miss Grace Grigsby, Miss Mary Lamb and Mrs. C. A. Linwood were receiving. Mrs. Guthrie and Mrs. George Bond presided at the tea table which was given the same charming flower and silver arrangement that prevailed in the private homes where parties were being given.

In the B. A. Knudson home, 618 East Walnut street, Mrs. Knudson was joined in hospitality by Mrs. Louis Allen and Mrs. C. M. Halderman. The same general plan of all the parties was adhered to, with musical features for entertainment. It was noted that Miss Fey was in demand as a whistler at each of the afternoon's events. Mrs. Halderman and Mrs. W. F. O'Hara poured tea.

Similar Events

Another group of guests enjoyed the hospitality of the Asa Vandermaast home, 425 South Birch street, where Mrs. Vandermaast and Mrs. Laura Leonard, were co-hostesses. At the flower brightened tea table Mrs. Vandermaast and Mrs. J. C. Gardner were seated.

Mrs. Samuel M. Davis joined with Mrs. W. A. Taylor in dispensing hospitality at the latter's home, 2410 Bonnie Brae, where the musical interval yielded as the afternoon advanced, to the charm of the tea hour, with Mrs. Davis presiding at the friendly rites.

The series of social affairs closed Friday afternoon when Mrs. John Lucien Wehrly and Mrs. George Scarvie received in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wehrly, 2411 North Park boulevard.

Fine Program

For program interest, the hostesses introduced Ruth Bonnell Fuller of Los Angeles, whose fine book reviews have delighted guests so frequently in the Wehrly home and at church affairs, and Miss Olive Schweitzer, that talented young piano artist of this city. Miss Olive played a succession of classical numbers with her amazing brilliancy, and Mrs. Fuller gave an equally delightful group of readings, choosing the majority of the poems from those of Robert Tris-

Bride-elect Inspires Kitchen Shower in Los Angeles

Miss Marjorie Woods, who on June 21 will become the bride of Charles E. Crumrine Jr., was honored last week at a kitchen shower given by a former U. C. L. A. friend, Miss Gaillard Hardwick, who was hostess in her Los Angeles home.

Presentation of gifts to the bride-elect was a feature of the evening. Bunko was played, with Miss Ruth Dunn, a former resident of this city, winning first prize.

Yellow daisies in an orange pottery bowl centered the table during the refreshment hour, when all decorations were in keeping with the yellow and orange theme thus established.

Miss Hardwick's guest list included the Mesdames Evelyn Fairley, Harriet Crumrine, Fannie Siegal, Frances Flint, Janice Haydock, Dorothy Lewis; Mesdames Dolph Kelsey and Carl Willis, Los Angeles; Mrs. Max Beiste, Long Beach; Miss Ruth Dunn, Burbank; with the honoree, Miss Woods.

You and Your Friends

The Mesdames Beatrice and Audrey Granas, 2404 Santiago avenue, entertained as weekend guests the Mesdames Carmel Birney and Florence Baer of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyle and daughter, Leda, of Los Angeles were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Elwell, 907 Lowell street.

The Mesdames Estelle Schlesinger and Gerry Haupt of this city, with the Mesdames Jo Ann Schott and Jean Jacard of Fullerton, spent the weekend at Catalina. Mrs. J. E. Prentice, 1680 East First street, left Saturday morning for Banning, where she expects to spend the next two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Soren Sorenson entertained as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Selmer of San Diego, former Santa Ana. Mrs. Selmer is remaining here for a few days' visit with other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Comito and their daughter, Miss Louise Comito, have moved from 812 Bush street to 802 Spurgeon street.

Party Honors Former Santa Anans During Visit Here

Coming as a feature of the visit in this city of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Selmer, former Santa Anans now living in San Diego, was a party at which they were honor guests Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Maylen, 131 Bachman Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Maylen and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Andersen joined as hosts at the event. Their guests included, in addition to the San Diego couple, Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson of this city, Miss Goldie Latham and Carter Cannon, Long Beach.

Dinner was served at tables decorated with yellow and white place cards and other appointments. Mrs. Andersen and Mr. Maylen held first and second high scores in bridge.

Mr. Selmer has returned to San Diego, but Mrs. Selmer is remaining in Santa Ana for a two or three day stay. She was honor guest today at a party in the home of Mrs. Walter Edkins, 1444 Louise street, with Mrs. Anderson as co-hostess.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

COUPLE'S 50TH WEDDING EVENT IS CELEBRATED

ORANGE, June 1.—Mr. and Mrs. William Grecht of West Walnut avenue observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday afternoon and evening when many friends called to extend congratulations on the happy occasion. They were married in New York City May 29, 1886.

In receiving her guests Mrs. Grecht wore a becoming frock of pink lace and a beautiful corsage. Punch and cakes were served from the dining room table which was spread with a white linen cloth and centered with yellow blossoms in a golden bowl flanked by golden sticks. Numerous lovely bouquets with golden flowers predominating were used about the spacious rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Grecht were married at a simple ceremony in the Rev. Mr. Schagel, the bride wearing a black cashmere gown. Following the wedding they established their home in New York City, where both had lived, coming to California in 1903 and to Orange in 1907.

Learning the trade of a gold beater when a boy and starting when 14 years of age, Mr. Grecht continued the same line of work after coming west. He established the second of the only two gold beating plants in Southern California at Orange, the other being in Los Angeles. Mr. Grecht continued as proprietor of the plant until 1930, when he sold his interests.

Mr. Grecht bought the orange ranch on which they live at the time of their arrival here. Among the many lovely gifts he made his bride at the time of their wedding and at other times since are a number of paintings in deep gold frames.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Grecht in entertaining were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kellogg of Anaheim. Mrs. Grecht's sister, Mrs. Mary House, and Mrs. House's daughter, Mrs. Margaret Sheprow, and grandson, Billie Quinn, all of New York City; the Grechts' three grandchildren, Frank Kellogg Jr., Billy Kellogg and Joan Marie Kellogg of Anaheim; their niece, Mrs. Julia Wilson and daughter, Mrs. Henry Gerken of Santa Ana.

Survivors are Mrs. widow, Mrs. Rosina Damman; four sons, John, Henry, Herman and William; Damman, of Lewistown, Ida; three daughters, Mrs. Marie Dehning, of Melrose, Ida; Mrs. Doris Dora Dehning, of Corvallis, Wash., and Mrs. Emma Musterman, of Yuba; 21 grandchildren, six great grandchildren, seven stepsons, John, Ernest, August and Emil Harms, of Orange; Edward Harms, of Oxnard; Fred Harms, of Santa Ana; George Harms, of Fullerton and three step-daughters, Mrs. W. S. Lantz, of Orange; Mrs. Clara Ohlde, of Snohomish, Wis., and Mrs. Matilda Harms, of Atwood.

RALPH BARNETT PASSES

EL MODENA, June 1.—Lee Barnett, postmaster of El Modena, recently received word of the death of a younger brother, Ralph Barnett, of Hereford, Texas. His wife, Mrs. Virginia Barnett, and daughter, Miss Ethel, were visiting relatives in this section at the time of his death. They left immediately for home.

Esther Rangel, Tustin Man Wed

ORANGE, June 1.—At the First Christian church Sunday, Miss Esther Rangel, North Cypress street, became the bride of Eleazar Cardiel, of Tustin, the Rev. A. B. Escobar, pastor of the Mexican Methodist church, officiated. The bride wore a white satin gown made in a medieval fashion with a lace edged tulle veil which fell from a lace cap trimmed with seed pearls.

Miss Esther Campos in deep rose lace was maid of honor and bridesmaids wore organza frocks. Miss Jobita Del la Rosa in pale pink, Miss Mary Munzo in blue, Miss Rosita Munzo in yellow and Miss Demetria Cardiel in apricot. All carried roses.

Manuel Buzo, of Olive, was best man and ushers were Frank De la Rosa, Herman Valverde, Bonifacio Jimenez, of Tustin; and Ralph Calzado, of Santa Ana.

The bride is a graduate of the Frances DePaw Methodist school for girls at Hollywood and the young people are to live in Los Angeles in a medieval fashion with some time and she is the daughter of Mrs. Augustina Rangel, of Mexico.

The Eight Edwards of England

Edward I

Edward II

Proclaiming the first Prince of Wales—King Edward I, conqueror of Wales, holding the future Edward II and demanding the oath of allegiance to him.

Edward III

Edward IV

King Edward VIII—a sketch by Artist Harry Grissinger, showing the new king as he will look in coronation robes.

ENGLAND'S new king is the eighth Edward to occupy the British throne. This Edward—whom the world knew as the dashing, sporting Prince of Wales—is, like most of the other Edwards, a good-looking king. But the similarity of the eight Edwards ends with the handsome face. They have been good kings and they have been bad kings. They have been fighters and they have been weaklings. Some were tyrants, others humanitarians. They have borne unblemished reputations and they have been of such character as hardly to be called men. Some lived long and useful lives; others died or were murdered in their youth.

Edward I was a real man's man. Born in 1239, the son of Henry III, he was a tall and athletic youth and most of the royal mothers of Europe set out early to make him their son-in-law while the youngster was still in his teens.

This tawny-haired lad with the smoldering eyes would have none of such parental projects, however, and hid off alone to Castile in 1254, ostensibly to visit the king but really to woo and win the monarch's fair sister, Eleanor. He was successful.

While heir-apparent, Edward I served his apprenticeship in war and took Eleanor with him when he invaded the Holy Land to fight the infidels. It was on this expedition that Edward almost lost his life in an attempted assassination. Tradition says the beautiful young wife saved her master's life when she sucked the wounds left by a poisoned sword.

HIS father became ill while Edward was in the Holy Land and died in 1272, before the son could return to England. Coronation of the new monarch was held in August, 1274. It was the most pretentious ceremony in the history of the young kingdom. Wine flowed freely from London's fountains and the subjects were all well gorged with the choicest foods before the feasting was ended.

Entering upon his reign, Edward I was soon warring with Scotland. It was while he was pressing toward an encounter with the rebel Scots that Eleanor died. The king, greatly grieved, halted his men and brought the queen's body back to its resting place in the royal sepulcher at Westminster.

The king's other marriage was to Margaret, sister of the king of France. Margaret, 40 years Edward's junior, also accompanied her warrior husband on his later forays.

Edward's greatest triumph was his conquest of Wales. He proclaimed his eldest son the Prince of Wales and British heirs-apparent have gone by the title since.

Edward died in 1307 while on his way to Scotland for more fighting, this time against Robert Bruce.

Next Edward II came to the throne, but the real ruler of the empire was to be a Piers Gaveston—one of the most sinister figures in English history.

Gaveston had been taken into the royal household with his brother in return for a service his father, one of the king's Gascon squires, had rendered Edward I.

Motherless at six, the Prince of Wales had a lonely boyhood, and the self-seeking young foreigner was quick to gain an ascendancy over the dreamy and impractical boy which later was to bring disaster to both.

The effeminate heir-apparent became infatuated with young Gaveston, in whom he found a substitute for the ties of blood. This infatuation stayed with the prince as the two grew to manhood. The court buzzed with whispers and there was talk of treason. Finally Gaveston was banished from England.

ON his deathbed Edward I begged his son never to recall Gaveston; but within a month after Edward II became king, the favorite was back at his side.

The coronation was to follow the new king's marriage to Isabel, young French princess. Edward went to France to marry Isabel and all England made great preparations for welcoming them on their return.

But when the royal couple arrived on English shores the king was neither occupied with thoughts of his lovely bride nor cares of government. Ignoring the notables assembled to greet him, he rushed to Piers Gaveston and showered him with caresses.

Isabel was outraged at the king's behavior. And the nobles' disgust increased when the Gascon carried the crown of England at the coronation.

Gaveston finally became so presumptuous that, within a few years, the nobles forced Edward to banish him on peril of losing his throne. Gaveston was back within the year, however, and died in England in 1312. That same year Edward of Windsor, the next ruler, was born.

Hugh Despenser, a tyrannical noble also close to the king, became the court favorite on Gaveston's death. He dipped his hands into the royal treasury at will and put to death any who displeased him.

Isabel, thinking her husband would change after Gaveston's death, went angrily to her family in France, taking the heir to the throne with her. Returning at the head of strong English military forces, the queen forced Edward II to abdicate in 1327 in favor of their son, Edward III. The deposed monarch died a prisoner in the Tower that same year and Despenser was executed.

EDWARD III was a throwback to his grandfather, in ambition and character. Shortly after his coronation, he crossed the North Sea to marry Philippa, daughter of the Count of Holland and Hainault, with whom he had fallen in love during his stay on the

Britain's new ruler bears the name of a colorful line of kings: good ones and bad ones, fighters and weaklings, some who lived long, and others who died or were murdered in their youth

ALL these hopes were blasted, however, when the impetuous king revealed his secret marriage to one of his subjects, Lady Elizabeth Gray. The handsome Edward, a philanderer always, had proposed to her after she refused his advances.

This infuriated Warwick and, after attempting unsuccessfully to break the marriage contract, he forced the king from the throne with a coup d'etat. Edward fled but returned to regain the throne and put Warwick and his henchmen to death. His first son, who was to become the tragic King Edward V, was born during his flight. Edward IV died in 1483 when this son was 13 years old.

The boy-king's uncle, Richard, Duke of Gloucester, long had been obsessed with the desire to rule the empire. Now, with only the little king and his younger brother in his way, brother's fate. A double tragedy resulted.

After a "reign" of 11 weeks, Edward V and his brother were smothered to death in the Tower in 1483. No absolute judicial proof as to how the boys met their deaths exists but few doubt that the treachery and ambition of Richard were behind the crime.

Edward VI, only son of Henry VIII's six marriages, was the next Edward to rule the empire. He was born to Queen Jane, Henry's third wife.

HIS rule began in 1547. He was nine years old at the time and so frail that the entire kingdom expected his death daily. Twice he was forced to walk publicly to dispel rumors that he had died.

Lacking any semblance of individuality, the youth was controlled completely by his regents.

His one decisive action was to remonstrate with Katharine, his father's sixth and last wife, for her speedy remarriage.

Edward VI did not marry, although there were many attempts to arrange a royal match.

Measles and smallpox were almost fatal to the king in 1552 and the following year he did die, a victim of tuberculosis.

No other Edward was to rule England until the dawn of the twentieth century.

This Edward, one of the most forceful of the eight, was the present king's grandfather, Edward VII. He became king in 1901 at the end of the long and illustrious reign of his mother, Queen Victoria.

The first heir-apparent to be born to a reigning sovereign-queen, he spent his youth going about the world "selling" the empire—much as the present king did while prince.

His strong vitality and genial instincts led to many rumors during this period but there were none of these after he became king.

Edward married Princess Alexandra of Denmark. A great fete was planned for the coronation of the new king and queen. Many foreign monarchs came to England and there was to be much feasting.

The king, then in his sixties, fell ill suddenly and underwent an operation. The crowning, held a month later, was less elaborate than had been planned. There were fewer rulers present.

Edward VII died in 1910, having labored in the interests of the British empire to the last.

Then George V ascended the throne to give England another progressive reign. And when the "wise" George passed on recently, the world met the eighth Edward.

King Edward II (left) and Piers Gaveston, the court favorite who became one of the most sinister figures in English history.

he found the opportunity.

Edward V already was on his way to London to assume the throne when the crafty duke persuaded the well-meaning Archbishop of Canterbury to go to Elizabeth and convince her she was wrong to separate the two lads. Elizabeth knew the duke's character but trusted the archbishop. She sent her youngest to share his

Today's Guest Editorial

AIDING UNFORTUNATE BOYS

Have you ever seen the eyes of a little boy sparkle when you offer him something that he most desires; have you ever felt the pride within your own soul when you have had the opportunity of making one less unfortunate than yourself happy? What a soul satisfaction it is to know that there are so many people in Orange County who could if they would take the interest of a child into their heart long enough to give him one week of joy and happiness this summer.

We take great pride in our roads, in our harbors, in our natural resources, a road to the mountain top, and all of those things that are drawing the eyes of the rest of California and America to our county but we are thinking in terms of the "gold in our own back yard"—the Youth that is waiting for a boost from its civic-minded citizen.

During the past three decades American industry has evolved a progressively increasing leisure. The twelve-hour day, though not long gone, seems a relic of the dark and unenlightened ages; the ten-hour day was hailed as the benefaction of a great and enlightened nation. America's genius produced the eight-hour day and now the "working-hour" of forty . . . thirty . . . hours with the twenty-five hour week already looming as a not too distant probability. The result—more LEISURE.

Every waking hour of every normal boy is filled with desire . . . desire to DO SOMETHING, pent up energy seeking outlet and expression . . . desire for association, adventure, recognition and approval with, by and of his fellows . . . during his Leisure Time. We find a growing tendency of parents who can well afford to direct their leisure time activities to let down this most important parental duty. In addition to these are those parents who can in no way offer the same opportunities to their youngsters due to economic stress. This presents an added juvenile problem in this community due to the lack of recreation facilities under trained leadership.

There are those children in this county who look longingly at the world go by, who wish that they too might have a part to play in the privileges of those more fortunate. The Boy Scouts of America have for a long time been enjoying the most wonderful privileges and opportunities for enjoying God's great out of doors. These fine opportunities have been made possible through the many public-minded citizens of the county.

The Executive Board and the Camping Committee composed of prominent men feel that now is an opportune time to make the dreams of these youngsters come true. What a wonderful thing it would be if we could have a camp in these high mountains situated up in the beautiful trees and along the rushing mountain streams where for a week or two the joy of God's out of doors could be a part of the lives of these youngsters who now are only dreaming of it.

What a splendid thing it would be if a host of our good people would come forward and say here is one week of joy for one of these children. There are so many people going about but there are so very few going about doing good. Here is a real opportunity.

The Boy Scouts of America will do its part in providing leadership that has been well trained. It will attempt to re-dedicate itself to the service of youth in Orange County by conducting and providing the necessary leadership and facilities for such an opportunity for these youngsters. This cannot be done alone by this organization. It will need the sincere support of many people because there are many children.

Then with this glorious gesture on our part we can all join hands at the end of the summer season with a feeling that we have done something for "one of the least of these"—an under-chanced child.

FAILURE OF THE HAGUE IS A LESSON TO US

We seem to have let an important anniversary get away from us. It was 37 years since the first Hague peace treaty was signed, and no one has so much as given the occasion a thought.

To celebrate that particular anniversary would take a bit of crust. The last 37 years have done a good many things to us, but they have not treated anything quite as cruelly as they have treated our late 19th century ideas about world peace. Still, we might have given the date at least a passing bow.

Those Hague treaties—as out of date as the flintlock musket, now—symbolize the complete failure of the world's pre-war effort to put international society on a stable, peaceful basis; and they failed because the people who sponsored them were kidding themselves in a whole-sale manner.

It was supposed, in those days, that kind words and pious hopes could work miracles. There was an essential unreality about the whole business, a bland refusal to face the facts and to see the world as it really was.

Imperialism, of the kind that can lead nowhere but to war, was in its heyday. England was gobbling up the Boers, America was cutting away the last vestige of Spain's new world empire, France was mopping up in the Sahara, Germany was looking restlessly for new worlds to conquer. Europe was getting into stride with the greatest of all armament races, the German navy was emerging as a rival to the British—and, all in all, a blind man might have seen that the world, as a whole, was getting set for the grandest fight in all history.

But people didn't see it. They somehow managed to gloss over the unmistakable signs of approaching war. They built a great peace palace at The Hague, signed a long string of treaties which sounded very fine and meant next to nothing at all, and went around assuring one another that a large-scale war was henceforth impossible.

Just how impossible it was they learned in 1914. The mental attitude embodied in those Hague treaties was forever discredited. And the anniversary of the signing of the first of those treaties comes and goes, year after year, utterly unnoticed.

All of that is worth recalling now. For our dire need to avert war is more pressing today than ever before, and we can learn something by meditating over the failure of our fathers' generation.

We can learn, for instance, that treaties and good intentions are useless as long as the causes of war remain unchanged. Until the world gets smart enough to rearrange its map, its economic boundaries, and its habit of seizing and holding the good things of this earth by force of arms, it will continue to have wars.

That lesson the well-intentioned makers of the Hague treaties failed to learn—and 1914 was the price of their failure.

COMPLACENCY OF EDUCATORS

The majority of our educators are so well satisfied with their diplomas received from other theoretical educators and the knowledge they have compared with the undeveloped minds of the pupils with whom they come in contact, that anyone who dares to suggest there might possibly be an improvement in their educational methods are regarded as rank meddlers who are sticking their nose into something that has been almost divinely set aside for the so-called educational leaders in control to direct.

Most of these educators who have been set aside from realities of life and from competition, seem to be perfectly satisfied with the progress they are making, socially, economically and politically. They prattle about democracy and the necessity of the political subdivisions training the youth to believe that pure democracy can produce a high standard of living. These smug educators are so content with themselves that they will never even exchange ideas with men with a practical education or consult anyone who has had any practical, competitive experience in life. Their world is a different world from reality. It is little wonder that when their students get their diplomas, there is no job for them. Many of the educators are so impractical that they actually believe this is a condition which cannot be corrected or changed because of the inventions of science and machinery.

Of course, these smug leaders of educational thought have their ears close to the ground and know what the voting majority believes is important. Is this, however, intelligent education? Is it kind to our children?

A SERIES OF INFLATIONS

The United States has gone through a series of inflations. During most of the time, a great majority of the people have not known inflation was in process. When state banks were permitted to issue currency without having proper reserves, there was a series of inflation.

The last great inflation has been going on for years through "check book money" instead of "pocketbook money" (currency and coins). This "check book money," permitted 14,000 banks in the United States to really mint money by the process of giving borrowers check books and agreeing to pay them on demand in currency the amount on their check-book stubs. This, the banks were permitted to do by law by keeping only 10% of currency in reserve to pay these demand deposits. The banks hoped by some miracle that depositors would never all call for their money at one time. So long as the depositors were all satisfied and believed that price levels could be maintained, the inflation process continued. This pyramiding of bank deposits was greatly increased by the Federal Reserve Act which made it legal for banks to keep only 10% of their assets on reserve with the central bank. The central bank was obliged to keep 35% in reserve for the deposits for the member banks. Thus, in reality, there was only 3 1/2% of currency in reserve for the demand deposits of the assets of the member banks. In 1929, people began to realize that this pyramiding of credit could not last and the more far-sighted began to convert their credits into gold.

The result was the government had to step in and guarantee the deposits of bankers up to the first $5,000 and take away the privilege of the depositors to get actual gold in exchange for their money. We are now in another cycle of inflation. When a government gets started on other than specie money, it is most difficult to stop.

The seriousness of this is not realized by the average citizen. He fails to realize the consequences that invariably follow a series of inflations. The French had an old saying: "After the printing press, the guillotine."

Who knows where inflation, the world over, will end?

What do we live for if it is not to make life less difficult to each other? George Eliot.

The Progress Of The World

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—When a former president of the United States is willing to attend the convention of his party and make an address, there is something strangely unprecedented about it which makes one wonder why it hasn't happened before.

The reason in its simplest form is that nearly every former president is a potential candidate and as a rule candidates do not appear on the convention rostrum.

Mr. Hoover's decision to accept an invitation to attend and speak emphasizes that he is without ambition and indicates that his paramount interest is to influence his party to write a winning platform. Unquestionably Mr. Hoover will hold himself free from any entanglement in anybody's candidacy.

The fact that the initiative in inviting Mr. Hoover came from John Hamilton, Governor Landon's manager, is significant of a desire which is growing inside the party which is to see if all factions can be reconciled and a united front presented to the country.

Mr. Hoover, of course, wants vindication. Rightly or wrongly, he no doubt feels that the depression beat him, just as the depression is today given as the excuse for the enormous spending and unbalanced budgets of Mr. Roosevelt. Nevertheless, the Democratic publicity machine "smeared" him and conducted a devastating campaign designed to make the American people believe that Mr. Hoover was an incompetent president.

Now Mr. Hoover's place in history will not be written for many years, and there is plenty of criticism against him from conservatives on the ground that he started the lending process through the RFC and began using the federal function to do things which Mr. Roosevelt has since intensified.

The biggest single blunder Mr. Hoover made was to sign the Hawley-Smoot tariff law in 1931 which broke down our foreign trade, bringing reprisals abroad, and causing American branch plants to go to other countries as American labor was made idle at home. Likewise, the former president failed in decisive movements to emphasize his leadership by an open battle with congress.

The Democratic house of representatives refused to give him the powers he asked for, insisted on such things as "publicity" for bank loans—something that helped to bring on the bank holiday throughout the country—and yet Mr. Hoover never fought aggressively against these things by appealing to the people, as some of his more assertive predecessors had done.

Mr. Hoover has made some fighting speeches in the last few months. Had he exhibited all through his administration the same fighting qualities, he would have made a better race in 1932, though the cards were stacked against him, politically speaking.

For millions of voters vote as the times seem good or bad. This is one reason why Mr. Hoover could not possibly be the candidate this year—his name is associated with one of the most disastrous periods in the economic history of America. He was president at the time, and in the political wheel of fortune he is blamed for what happened, just as many Republican presidents have taken credit for prosperity with which they had really nothing to do.

The presence of Mr. Hoover at the Cleveland convention means that he will take an active part in the campaign. From a purely strategic standpoint, this may please the Democrats, as they would like nothing better than to refer to the Republican ticket as the Landon-Hoover ticket or the Vandenberg-Hoover ticket as the case may be. Mr. Hoover might have been stronger with public opinion today and put himself in a position to be of greater aid to his party had he last January proclaimed his ambition, proclaimed the fact he would not accept a nomination if tendered him, and had he then devoted himself entirely to the cause in which he so profoundly believes, namely the preservation of the American constitutional system.

There is another side, however, to the argument. Mr. Hoover polled 15,000,000 votes in 1932—a not inconsiderable nucleus. It is necessary, from a Republican standpoint, to hold that strength intact, and presumably, if Mr. Hoover was good enough to gather such a large group of voters, he is able today not only to hold that group but perhaps to add a few converts, from among the "wets" in particular, who have since discovered that other issues of far more pressing economic importance are wrapped up in the controversy over the New Deal and its policies. Many of the "wets" who supported Mr. Roosevelt will be found drifting back to the Republican party this year.

There are, of course, many voters who cast a ballot for Mr. Hoover who now believe in Mr. Roosevelt. The recent Literary Digest poll showed shifts of that kind, but it is undeniable that Mr. Hoover, as a former president, commands considerable prestige with many Republican voters, and hence a recognition of his position and the willingness to hear an address from him may turn out to have more advantages than disadvantages, especially because, as the campaign unfolds, the new nominees will make his own campaign and interpret the issues of the platform more concretely in his own speeches. It does look as if the Cleveland convention will be the most interesting Republican convention since 1912.

BARBS

The hand of the brain trust is seen in the new federal tax bill. At least, most officials concerned find it so much Greek.

Congressmen had better talk business with the gentleman from Michigan who wears suits without pockets, as Uncle Sam might take to the idea.

Little Penny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

I was around at the firehouse tawking to Mr. Riley the hooker ladder driver about vacation, and he said, Did I ever tell you about my little fishing trip when I lost the pearl out of my necktie pin?

No, sir, did it drop out? I said, and he said, No, it was about ready to, I mean it was loose and shaky, so it came rite off in the worm's tail.

G, what worm? I said, and Mr. Riley said, The worm I was just about to use for bait. In fact I had him on the hook already and he unwound his tail and reached out and grabbed my pearl just as I cast the line. Naturally I yanked it rite out again, but in that short space of time a little tiny fish about 3 inches long had swallowed the worm and the hook and my pearl, Mr. Riley said.

But at lease you had the little fish, I said, and Mr. Riley said, That's what I thawt, but just as he was swinging in through the air a flying fish swooped out of the water and swallowed him.

Then you had the flying fish, I said, and Mr. Riley said, O did I? Before I could say Jack Robinson a sea gull grabbed that flying fish, pulled him off the hook and flew away with him a mile a minute. But even while I was watching him an eagle flashed down out of the sky and cawt that sea gull and disappeared again as clean as a whistle, and now comes the strangest part of the story, he said.

G, what? I said, and he said, 3 years later I was doing a little mountain climbing when I came across a little eaglet that had fallen out of its nest way up on the side of a steep precipice. I risked my life to climb up there and put it back in the nest, and low and behold a hundred yards farther on the mother eagle swooped down in front of me and with a grateful look and a cawf she disgorged something that she'd been keeping in her throat, and what did I see glissening at my feet but my own pearl. Drop around again, Mr. Riley said.

Meaning the end of the subject.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
25 Years Ago Today

JUNE 1, 1911

So far as building permits were concerned, the month of May has been the busiest of the year to date, for Building Inspector Roper issued 44 permits, totaling $50,165. A large proportion of the building already under way are cottages valued from $1400 to $2000.

At a meeting of the Civic Improvement association held last night at the city hall under presidency of A. C. Black, Saturday, June 3 was chosen as "Clean-up Day", and every property owner in the city will be expected to see that his premises are cleared of weeds and trash. Untidy or weedy parkings are to be reported to the secretary, W. B. Tedford, and if these are not cared for by June 5, the matter will be referred to the street superintendent. It is the endeavor of the association to have the entire city well groomed in time for the annual state C. E. convention here.

Modern Life

THE CONQUEST OF UNEMPLOYMENT

We CAN conquer unemployment for every American able and willing to work.

If we do not it will be only because we fall down on the job of using the means at hand.

If we are to take the fact of unemployment from industry and the fear of unemployment from the worker there are a few fundamental things we must do, viz:

First, we must turn from speculative business to constructive business.

An industrial system in which too many leaders look to a poker kind of speculation for profit cannot and will not conquer unemployment.

An industrial system in which the leaders realize that it can fulfill its social function only as it makes the production and distribution of goods its main job can and will conquer unemployment.

Second, we must resist the seductive appeals of the theorists who are telling us that there is something sinister about profits even from productive enterprise;

we must recognize that profit from truly productive enterprise, rather than from unproductive speculation, is the spark plug of the whole enterprise of increasing the total wealth of the nation and distributing it over the whole face of society through wages and prices primarily.

Third, we must work out the right relation between business and politics. In tackling the job of the relation between business and government, in its NRA, the Roosevelt Administration was putting its finger on a live problem. We must not turn the country over to the business men without let or hindrance; we must not turn the country over to the politicians without let or hindrance. The two must be harnessed in terms of an intelligent understanding of how best to get the fruits of this age of plenty to the millions.

Until we have faced these three problems wisely we shall not make much headway in the conquest of unemployment.

WORKING IT OUT

"What is to be done with him, Mary? He refuses to go to camp. He refuses to go to summer school. He says he won't study another lesson as long as he lives. What I've been through with that boy for the past year nobody knows. I'm about ready to give up."

"He doesn't look so bad, to me. But of course I haven't had to deal with him."

"If you had you'd know something was happening to you, I can tell you. He's almost been expelled. If it hadn't been for the respect the teachers had for his father and me—you've simply no idea."

"He's sixteen, isn't he? A restless age. Most boys are trouble-some then. We'll take him to the farm for the summer. He can't get into much mischief there. He'll have plenty of room to get about in, and lots to occupy his mind. If you'll let him come we'll be glad of him."

"Let him go? Sister, you're rescuing a drowning woman."

When the long-legged lad arrived at the farm he couldn't see enough at one time. He seemed to be trying to see behind him, before and all around at one and the same time, and the questions poured out like the released waters of a dam. What was this? And how was that? And where did that horse sleep, and who took care of him? And how many chickens were in the house? And what price did one get? And on and on until sleep overcame him. The next day he wandered about the farm just looking and storing up questions for the evening.

"What are you going to do tomorrow, Uncle John?"

"Going to begin painting the big barn."

"The big barn? What color? Whose going to help you?—Can I help?"

Certainly he could help; and he did. His aunt whispered to his uncle that he might get too tired, and his uncle said that he would tire of the notion long before his back ached. But he neither tired of the notion nor the motion. The more he painted the more he wanted to paint. All summer he looked for painting jobs and the barns, coops, fences and outbuildings.

"Soak the rich!" really means: "Raise the big shot's taxes so he'll make me pay more for what I buy."

"Munitions people promote strife to get a profit!" cried the Congressman. Then he struts up class prejudice to get votes.

EVERYBODY SEEMS TO AGREE THAT SILENCE IS A VIRTUE, FOR OTHER PEOPLE.

It isn't a bad disposition that keeps people from smiling. It's bad teeth.

Robinson should be able to convince a jury of his innocence. He knows how to impersonate a woman.

It's strange how much more self-defense you need when you happen to have a gun in your pocket.

AMERICANISM: Winning success by mastering one job; modestly giving expert advice on matrimony, economics, diet and interior decorating.

No wonder old Adam sinned. There were no neighbors to keep him scared.

If you uplift the down-trodden, you call yourself a deliverer. But they call you a darned meddler.

To ruin an enemy, make him the boss and surround him with people who are afraid to criticize.

THE MENTALLY MATURE ARE THOSE WHO CAN'T ENJOY FICTION UNLESS IT IS CALLED BIOGRAPHY.

Typical reaction to the news that millions are starving in China: "Ho, hum!"

Why do authors write sexy stuff? Well, does a farmer raise primroses if corn is easier to sell?

If you think the world isn't growing better, think how long it's been since you saw a goose-gold toothpick.

They say the modernist artist paints what he sees, so there's a job for some enterprising oculist.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "WHEN THE LADY OF THE HOUSE SAYS NO," SAID THE PEDDLER, "I KNOW THERE'S NO USE TALKING."
